Gas Cut Would Be Incredible, Companies Say

Claim Arbitrary Reduction Would Be a Drastic Hardship

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of two oil companies operating in British Columbia expressed concern over the announcement in Victoria by Dr. W. A. Carrothers, provincial government economic adviser, that the price of gasoline will be reduced in British Columbia within 10 days.

R. F. Pidgeon, provincial manager of Imperial Oil Limited, termed the announcement "incredible."

L. J. Martin, sales manager for Home Oil Distributors Limited, said the proposed price reduction would be a "drastic hardship."

"The statement attributed to Dr. Carrothers that the price of gasoline will arbitrarily be reduced within the next 10 days seems incredible," said Mr. Pidgeon, explaining his comments were of a personal character, rather than representative of the views of his company.

"This is so, particularly because evidence was presented to Dr. Carrothers indicating that the industry is already losing money on its operations in British Columbia, and also Dr. Carrothers only concluded hearing of the evidence on only its purchases of materials and supplies in British Columbia, and its large wage rolls here in which it will be possible to effect any saving."

"Economies along these lines would appear to be inescapable if the price is reduced, because naturally no industry can continue to do business at ever-increasing losses."

"Action of a kind indicated in the news dispatch from Victoria becomes more than merely a question about the price of a commodity. It involves the issue whether present unemployment is to be further aggravated and whether industry will be discouraged from operating in British Columbia."

"The only basis that will encourage capital to continue to come into the province... is an opportunity to earn a fair return on its invested capital and its operations."

Mr. Martin spoke along similar lines. "Dr. Carrothers has all the figures," he said. "He knows exactly what our costs are. A cut of three or four cents per gallon will mean selling gasoline below the cost of production."

The Home Oil sales manager said the oil companies, under existing prices, supplied wages, sales costs and profits from 17.6 per cent of what the customer pays for gasoline. The rest of the gasoline price goes into taxes, crude oil and other costs connected with the production. The retailer received 16.8 per cent of what the motorist pays.

Hitler Asked To Mediate

KOMAROM, on the Czechoslovak-Hungarian Border (AP)—Persons close to the Slovak delegation in the Komarom conference on the territorial dispute between Hungary and Czechoslovakia said today the Slovaks had asked Chancellor Hitler to mediate "in this serious hour."

Slovaks said after a meeting today of the two delegations that they were so widely apart it did not appear their differences could be bridged by ordinary negotiation.

The only hope, they said, was that some foreign statesman could convince the Hungarian government its demands were "sky high" and a danger to European peace.

They believed that Hitler, already master of the Sudetenland taken from Czechoslovakia, was the only man who might impress the Hungarians.

Bren Interviews Told to Board

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. L. A. LaFleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence, at today's session of the Bren machine-gun inquiry identified a letter he received from Maj. James E. Hahn, president of the Ing'ls Company, Toronto, later given a Canadian contract for 7,000 guns. The letter was dated May 1, 1937. Major Hahn was then in London and sent Gen. LaFleche a synopsis of interviews he had in England.

One was with Sir Harold Brown, director of munitions production, who, Maj. Hahn reported, expressed surprise no official communication had been received from Canada regarding co-operation on Bren gun production. Sir Harold was still interested in a proposal to make the Bren gun in Canada and believed a scheme such as had been suggested by Maj. Hahn would be acceptable and a British order for 5,000 guns could be arranged.

On a visit to the Royal Small Arms Plant at Enfield, Maj. Hahn reported he found the plant was behind in delivery on certain parts for first 1,000 run of Bren guns at Enfield and this with other factors accounted for Bren gun orders not being placed with that factory. This probably accounted for Sir Harold's continued interest in the Canadian proposal, Maj. Hahn reported.

Should the Canadian plan materialize all the facilities at Enfield and full co-operation would be available, he said. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, and Gen. LaFleche were invited to visit the plant.

Soon after his arrival in London Gen. LaFleche had a series of conferences with Sir Harold Brown, twice in company with Major Hahn.

British officials had expressed surprise that the Canadian defence department did not act as agent for the War Office in its purchase of supplies in the Dominion. He had told them, the witness said, that Canada preferred the British Government to deal directly with the manufacturers, but Canada would not doubt endeavor to deal with the same factories and thus bring about economy in production costs.

TALKED WITH MINISTER

After this interview with Sir Harold Brown Gen. LaFleche had discussed the matter with Mr. Mackenzie and told him the War Office officials were desirous of going ahead with a contract for Maj. Hahn. That made the Ing'ls Company which Hahn represented the logical source of supply for the Canadian department.

"If the War Office placed an order in Canada that was our source of supply, too," said Gen. LaFleche.

On June 3 a letter was received from Hahn enclosing a draft of a proposed contract covering production of 7,000 guns in the Ing'ls plant. The letter said data and information collected in a survey of the Enfield plant had been checked and found sound by officials of the Enfield plant. The Ing'ls Company was prepared to make guns on a cost plus basis and estimated its net profit before federal income tax at 5.4 per cent.

This letter was sent to Sir Harold for his information, Gen. LaFleche said. He told Sir Harold the proposed draft agreement had not yet been considered by the National Defence Department, "but many of the principles mentioned by Maj. Hahn in his draft agreement had already been approved in Canada." Before forwarding these documents to Sir Harold he had spoken to the defence minister.

ATTITUDE ASKED

At this point Lieut.-Col. George Drew suggested that, since there had been several references to conferences between the witness and his minister but no evidence as to the reactions or attitude of the minister to these negotiations, some light on that point might clarify the picture and maintain continuity of the narrative.

The commissioner and L. A. Forsyth agreed. Mr. Forsyth referred to Dr. Skelton's letter of April 23, 1937, advising Gen. LaFleche that Prime Minister King was against asking Britain to buy munitions in Canada. He asked Gen. LaFleche if, during his trip to England or while there, he was made aware of the contents of the letter. It was dated the same day Gen. LaFleche left for England and he testified earlier he had not received the letter.

"If you mean the facts in that letter I say yes, definitely," Gen. LaFleche replied.

At the same time the witness said he learned the whole question was one of government policy to be taken up probably at the Imperial Conference.

HOLY LAND REVOLT GROWS, SAY NAZIS

Arabs Set Up Government, German News Agency Reports

BERLIN (CPHavas)—The German press has turned attention to Palestine, reporting the disorders there under such headlines as "England completely overwhelmed!" and "Arab Revolution!"

D.N.B., official Reich news agency, reported in a dispatch from Cairo a national Arab government had been established in the Holy Land, with a "free corps" of 15,000 at its disposal. This underground government was credited in the dispatch with having brought three-fourths of the country under its sway.

Special attention was given by newspapers to the pan-Arab congress under way at Cairo. The Voelkischer Beobachter and the Koelnische Zeitung interpreted the anti-Zionist and anti-Semitic atmosphere there as a concrete crystallization of Pan-Arabism.

"For the first time Pan-Arabism has a definite goal," the Beobachter declared, "and this goal attacks the so-called Jewish state for Palestine."

The paper said the Cairo congress indicated the centre of gravity of this Pan-Arabism was drifting away from Ibn Saud, King of Saudi Arabia, and was drawing increasingly close to Egypt.

INQUEST DESCRIBED AS SANITY TEST

Toronto Inquiry Into Mrs. Horlick Sidley's Death Scored in Court

TORONTO (CP)—D. L. McCarthy, Toronto lawyer, argued before Mr. Justice Charles McTague of the Ontario Supreme Court today that Attorney-General Gordon Conant exceeded provisions of the Coroners' Act in ordering an inquest on the death here July 6 of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress.

McCarthy, acting for four executors of Mrs. Sidley's $2,000,000 estate, asked an injunction to prevent Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner of Toronto, from proceeding with the inquest, adjourned late in July after one sitting.

The lawyer read from the Coroners' Act a section providing a coroner may call an inquest if he believes it necessary, or he may release the body for burial if he believes an inquest unnecessary.

BODY SENT TO U.S.

McCarthy said Dr. Lawson had made no effort to prevent the body of Mrs. Sidley being shipped to Racine, Wis. He added the Attorney-General himself could not initiate inquest proceedings unless the body was in the coroner's custody.

Maintaining there was no need for an inquest, as doctors had reported Mrs. Sidley had died from natural causes, and post-mortem had confirmed this, McCarthy asserted the inquest was "apparently to attack her sanity."

The inquest had been ordered July 15, nine days after Mrs. Sidley died at the home of W. Perkins Bull, Toronto lawyer and historian, where she had been a guest for a year.

"The coroner had never taken possession of the body," McCarthy said. "The coroner had never viewed the body. The body passed from his jurisdiction long ago."

Church School Appeal in Vienna

Catholic Parents Urged Not to Neglect Children's Religious Education

VIENNA (AP)—The Catholic archdiocese of Vienna has distributed leaflets to Catholic parents in some of the city's districts exhorting them in the form of 10 commandments not to neglect the religious education of their children.

The leaflets, headed "A Word to Catholic Parents," bore the rubber stamp signature of Theodor Cardinal Innitzer, whose palace was attacked last Saturday night by a Nazi mob, and were in answer to a September 1 announcement the Nazi Party would take over education of youth and that all religious and private schools in German Austria would be closed.

The commandments for guidance of parents were:

1. All parents bear before God the responsibility for the immortal souls of their children; send your children, therefore, to their religious education lesson. (Catholic authorities have been urging parents to send their children to the two-hour weekly religious instruction permitted in state schools.)

2. Rear your children as Christians through precept and example at home.

3. Pray for your children and with your children.

4. Give heed daily to the faith of your children.

5. Consider well: God has entrusted to you the immortal soul of your children and will demand it back from you.

6. Children are the sanctuary of you and God.

7. Appear with your children at mass every Sunday and frequently at the Communion table.

8. You, yourselves, must rear your children at home in the Catholic spirit.

9. Be not lethargic but vigilant watchmen over all your children.

10. You must be God's vicery to your children: protect them from all danger—also from danger to their souls.

Pincer Drive For Hankow

By LLOYD LEHBAS
Associated Press Foreign Staff
SHANGHAI—Japanese forces began Wednesday a giant pincer offensive designed to capture Hankow.

A new Japanese expeditionary force landed at Bias Bay, a few miles north of Hongkong, was planning to sever communications between Hongkong and Canton, the last big Chinese coastal city, or between Canton and Hankow, provisional Chinese capital.

Far in the interior the Japanese intensified their drives against Hankow from the north and west, and were reported to have cut northern railway communications with Sinyang, 100 miles north of the capital.

These were the Japanese positions:

1. From Sinyang invading units were starting a 100-mile offensive down the Peiping-Hankow railway through a heavily-defended mountainous terrain.

2. Fighting through mountains northeast of Hankow, aiming at Macheng, Hupeh province city, which commands highways to Hankow, 51 miles away.

3. At Kichun, Yangtze River town captured last Saturday when 6,000 defenders were reported killed. It is 80 miles downstream from Hankow.

4. Attacking Yangsin, about 80 miles southeast of Hankow. Its occupation, considered imminent, would facilitate cutting the Hankow-Canton railway south of Hankow.

5. Attempting to smash Chinese defences along the Kiukiang railway in Kiangsi province, and through the Hwalingshan or Flowery Forest mountains toward Chansha, Hunan provincial capital, 185 miles southwest of Hankow.

Fighting was severe on all these fronts, but was heaviest at Yangsin, where the Japanese have been trying for 97 days to crack the Chinese lines, and on the Teian front.

Japanese army spokesmen said reports of a Chinese victory near Teian were false.

FRANCE ADDING MUCH TO DEFENCE

Cabinet Votes $62,289,000 More for Daladier to Spend

PARIS (AP)—The French cabinet authorized Premier Daladier today to spend an extra 2,307,000 francs ($62,289,000) for national defence in the few remaining months of this year.

To the Premier as War Minister was allotted 1,420,000 francs ($38,340,000) for the army, and to Navy Minister Cesar Campinchi 887,000 francs (23,949,000) for the sea forces. M. Daladier as Minister of National Defence and Premier will supervise the whole expenditure.

The appropriations were the first evidence of the government's determination to push French rearmament after the Munich peace of September 30, in which Adolf Hitler obtained French, British and Italian agreement to split Czechoslovakia.

National defence expenditures previously allotted by Parliament for 1938 totalled 25,945,000,000 francs (about $674,570,000 at present rates).

LONDON HEARS SOVIET PROTEST

Ambassador Says
Winterton Misstated
Russia's Moves in Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky called on Foreign Secretary Halifax yesterday and protested against a statement made Monday night by Earl Winterton, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, on Russia's position in the Czechoslovak crisis.

Lord Winterton, a member of the cabinet, said in a speech at Shoreham, Sussex, that Russia did not offer to help in the crisis, but "only made very vague promises owing to her military weakness."

The Soviet embassy issued a statement calling Lord Winterton's assertion a "complete perversion of the actual position of the U.S.S.R."

The court allowed the appeal and quashed the conviction. The charges were laid on instructions of Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

British Fill Defence Gaps

As He Holidays Chamberlain Studies Further Speeding Up
Of Measures and Possible National Registration

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—With every cast of his salmon fly in the Tweed River, Prime Minister Chamberlain is turning over in his mind the biggest question facing Great Britain, how to capitalize on the spiritual revival engendered by the German-Czechoslovak crises and turn it to advantage in a united, strong and more disciplined nation.

In retrospect, the crisis brought out these indelible facts:

1. Britain's military, naval and air defences, on which hundreds of millions of pounds sterling have been spent, revealed some alarming weaknesses.

2. Civilian corps like the Air Raids Precautions, auxiliary fire-fighting divisions, ambulance corps and first aid crews were under-manned despite the fact thousands of men and women indicated a desire to serve their country in a non-military sphere—figuratively speaking they ran around like sheep on a mountain, not knowing how or where they could satisfy their patriotic desires.

MASKS AND SHELTERS

3. Protective measures for the civilian population, such as distribution of gas masks and the construction of bombproof shelters, were inadequate in part.

Knowing the full details of the extent of these defensive shortcomings, Mr. Chamberlain has set his mind to correct them. Full reports are being prepared for the cabinet, and the government is expected to meet parliament on November 1 with a full program of reforms.

Already there have been several noteworthy developments from the lessons learned when Britain went on a modified war footing at the height of the European tension:

1. Air defence plans will be accelerated by increasing factory production capacity to a point where the potential output in 1940 may exceed 25,000 planes a year.

2. The balloon barrage, originally restricted to London, will be extended to Birmingham, Bristol, Manchester, Liverpool, Hull, Newcastle, Plymouth, Southampton, Glasgow and Cardiff.

3. The War Office and the A.R.P. division of the Home Office are considering plans to divide recruits between the active defence forces like anti-aircraft batteries and passive defence organizations such as first aid crews. There may be changes in age limits designed to place the younger and stronger men in the active service.

4. In all probability the government will seek to accelerate the production of the new 3.7-inch anti-aircraft gun which has an effective range of 30,000 feet, and the Bren machine gun for land-fighting forces, capable of firing 200 rounds a minute in short bursts.

5. Every effort will be made to bring the regular and territorial armies up to full strength, to equip them thoroughly, and to accelerate training.

6. Development back of this area of big military concentration centres, together with well fortified and provisioned air bases. These would support the Russian air force, whose duty would be to harass the enemy not, only through the buffer zone but before it could actually reach Soviet frontiers.

7. Deforestation of a belt ranging from a few to 100 miles wide between the Soviet Union and her neighbors of Roumania, Poland and Estonia.

8. Depopulation of this zone, and in some cases resettlement of evacuated towns and farms.

9. Soviet militarists and statesmen for years have spoken publicly of the plan to "meet our Fascist enemies on the soil whence he comes," meaning beyond the Ukrainian borders.

Reports here are that Russia also is extending a "no-man's" belt to include distant frontiers with Finland, Persia and Afghanistan, which also are being drawn into the general defence system.

This Soviet defence strategy is in reality 20 years old. It was begun at the end of the Great War when German troops threatened Leningrad, and the Russian capital hastily was transferred 500 miles inland to Moscow, where it has been kept.

Subsequently the Bolsheviks transferred the capital of the Ukraine from Kiev, near the border, to Kharkov, several hundred miles inland.

His main problem is to evolve a plan not based on compulsion which will apportion the available man power to the various fighting and noncombatant forces in time of war.

He may select some form of a national register, a census of the adult population by which men of certain ages and qualifications would be allocated to various war-time duties. He might go further and have conscription in everything but the compulsory features.

Whatever he does will be designed to bring order out of the modified chaos that existed during the crisis and supply an answer to the national cry, "tell us what to do," which was heard on every side.

He was the designer of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, the Blessed Sacrament Church of Providence, St. James Catholic Cathedral of Seattle and many other noted structures.

Keep up with the Joneses—they're supporting the Chest.

Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.—Matthew 7:5.

Hepburn Plans Move to Control Rail Competition

Ottawa Expects
Ontario Leader to Return to Limelight

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—Parliament Hill is actively interested in the rumor that Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario is liable to make a national figure of himself before many months are past, by offering a substantial contribution of the country's pressing transportation problem.

Such a course, it is recognized, would be thoroughly typical of the Ontario Premier. For some time he has evidenced a particular satisfaction in calling attention to the federal government's sins of omission by spectacular action in connection with some issues towards which the Dominion's politicians, either by reason of the difficulties or the delicacies involved, have taken refuge in a policy of inaction.

Such an issue is the transportation problem.

Mr. Hepburn's contribution to its solution, according to the report which federal circles hear, is to be twofold:

In the first place, license and other fees for truck operators are to be placed on a basis somewhat commensurate with the benefit that these interests derive from the use of the public highway.

In the second place, there is to be more rigid enforcement of the laws governing maximum loads, size of tires, and other details.

ROYAL COMMISSION AT WORK

Mr. Hepburn's action, Parliament Hill hears, will come ostensibly as a result of the report soon to be made public of the Royal Commission on transportation which he appointed under Mr. Justice E. R. Chevrier of the Ontario Supreme Court almost a year ago.

For some time past this commission has been so silent that its existence had almost been forgotten by federal political circles. Its silence is now said, however, merely to have been cloaking of intensive labors which the importance of its report in connection with the coming policy of the Hepburn administration will justify within the next few months.

In addition to the work of the Royal Commission, individual members of the Hepburn government are reported to have been gathering data first-hand in recent months relative to the competition of transport on the highways to the railways. Several truck drivers within the past few weeks are reported to have had the distinction of being stopped on the road by a provincial cabinet minister and having the weight of their load checked and notes taken of the size of their tires and other details.

AID RAILWAY EARNINGS

Effective regulation of motor truck competition would have a highly constructive reaction, Parliament Hill recognizes, on the earnings and prospects of the rail carrier systems. Traditionally one of the chief grievances of the railways against the motor truck has been the fact that whereas the roadbed of the former costs thousands of dollars per mile by way of original capital investment and annual upkeep, the latter is able to travel on highways built and maintained at the public expense.

Despite the injustice of the railways having to compete with a carrier that has its roadbed supplied for it free of all cost, attempts at regulation of highway transportation have failed in the past on the grounds that such transportation is interprovincial in character, making interprovincial co-operation essential to any scheme of successful regulation.

ONTARIO-QUEBEC CO-OPERATION

The belief on Parliament Hill is, however, that Premier Hepburn is in a position to enlist the interprovincial co-operation which any scheme of effective regulation requires. It is taken for granted that, in view of the happy conditions of co-operation which exists between the Ontario and Quebec governments, he will be able to secure the support of Premier Maurice Duplessis in his policy. Co-operation between Ontario and Quebec for the regulation of highway transportation is recognized in federal circles as a development that not only would give a lead to the rest of Canada, but would also prove a constructive factor in itself in the outlook which the steam railways face.

As a matter of fact, the railways suffer more from truck competition in Ontario and Quebec than in any two other provinces. This is due to the fact that trucks compete most successfully in the field of short hauls, and this traffic is heavier in the populous provinces of Ontario and Quebec than in any of the other provinces.

Duff Cooper Fails To Convince Voters

LONDON (CP)—A committee of electors of the constituency of St. George's, Westminster, represented in the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. Alfred Duff Cooper, resigned First Lord of the Admiralty, passed a resolution yesterday declaring they were in "complete agreement with the actions of the Premier and the policy of the government."

The committee acted after hearing Mr. Duff Cooper, who resigned because he disagreed with Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy during the Czechoslovak crisis.

Looking at New Facts

ONE OF TODAY'S DISPATCHES FROM London informs us that the great question before the British people is how to capitalize on the "spiritual revival" engendered by the German-Czechoslovak crisis and turn it to advantage in a united and strong disciplined nation. In a general way we are told that elaborate and costly defensive measures have revealed "some alarming weaknesses." That being the case, "with every cast of his salmon fly in the Tweed River, Prime Minister Chamberlain is turning over in his mind" the question to which we have referred, and is trying to discover what the answer ought to be. It is expected to include the following:

Acceleration of fighting airplane output to 2,500 a year by 1940.

Extension of the balloon barrage to other cities well outside the London area.

Speeding up of production of anti-aircraft guns to give them a range of 30,000 feet, with Bren machine guns for land-fighting forces capable of firing 200 rounds a minute in short bursts.

A regular and territorial army up to full strength and fully equipped.

Much has been said and written about the "Peace of Munich." The four-power "deal" in the ancient Bavarian city obviously postponed the battle which eventually will have to be fought between despotism and what is left of democracy. But this "peace for our time" is being subjected daily to such far-reaching qualifications that even Mr. Chamberlain is becoming increasingly skeptical. We shall be called pessimistic, perhaps, if we dare to suggest that the Third Reich of Adolf Hitler within a comparatively short space of time will include all the remaining political and territorial fragments of what once was Czechoslovakia—Central Europe's last democratic ditch.

As we already have said, the archpriest of 1938 totalitarianism does not forget his Bismarck, and while his methods may not quite conform to those of the Iron Chancellor—as, for example, in the case of Schleswig-Holstein—he is getting similar results with much less cost. German troops, not to mention the presence of other foreign troops on Czechoslovakian soil, already have taken over more territory than was to have been acquired only after the submission of a plebiscite. And the latest suggestion is that the Prague government is being gradually reduced to a state of complete impotency by threats that further encroachments along the frontiers may be avoided only at the price of additional concessions. These include:

1. Outlawing of the Communist party by Czechoslovakia.
2. An agreement that German troops may pass through Czechoslovakia in war time.
3. An anti-Semitic policy, and
4. Customs union of the two countries.

These developments, of course, are reflected in Prime Minister Chamberlain's decision to put Great Britain in a position to defend herself from such attacks as may result from further successes which seem within Herr Hitler's grasp as he capitalizes the "Peace of Munich"—as he takes what he wants, as he threatens to use force if he should be thwarted. But where does the "spiritual revival" fit in with a reality which now is menacingly apparent? A "peace at any price" may yet prove too costly.

War Profits

IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT THE question of war profits has cropped up here and there while the situation in Europe has been disturbing the world. The general desire in every country is that in the miserable and costly event of another major conflagration breaking out, machinery shall be in readiness to eliminate profiteering under every conceivable head. As far as Canada is concerned, it will be recalled that Prime Minister Mackenzie King, during the last session of the House of Commons, definitely stated that "no profit should be made out of war." Other public officials and men prominent in the life of the country have expressed similar sentiments—that if Canada should become involved in a war "all extraordinary profits should be eliminated." The term, of course, is somewhat elastic.

In its monthly letter, the Bureau of Business Conditions, a branch of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, considers the matter from a two-sided point of view. It tells us that in the first place, in the event of a war, the governments demand large quantities of manufactured goods, produced to meet certain specifications. These must be delivered on time. This naturally involves substantial capital expenditures which should be repaid from the profits derived during the period of war. Furthermore, when the war emergency is over, a readjustment to peaceful production has to take place, and this is a rather expensive process. Secondly, the fact should not be overlooked that, in most instances during the last war, the producer did not fix the price of the commodity sold to the government. Rather, the military boards, after analyzing the various cost factors involved, fixed the prices. Another element is that, in a war, the question of cost, while important, is not decisive. Much more important is the ability of a manufacturer to produce the commodities according to specifications and deliver them on time. In spite of these difficulties, it is generally believed that, should another war emergency arise, industry, through close co-operation with the government, would be in a position to meet squarely the problem of war profits. There is apparent in all this the need for an adequate organization to see that the maximum of service be obtained without "extraordinary profits"—that the greed which causes war will have no license in any effort Canada may have to make.

In addition to this there is the question of conscripting man power as well as wealth. The argument is often, and quite rightly, presented that, just as the government has the power to draft individuals to serve in the army in an emergency, the government should have the power to draft industrial plants and labor in order to carry on the war successfully. Whether or not the democratic governments will have recourse to nationalization and to the conscription of wealth and labor is, of course, another matter. To a large extent, it will depend on the duration of a war and the ability of private industrial enterprises to meet the demand for war materials. In any event, the consequences of a major war probably would be so serious as greatly to overshadow the problem of profit, but not so serious as to place it outside the pale of constant vigilance to prevent exploitation.

Bourbon Mind

ONE OF THE SPEAKERS AT A MEETING of the Saanich Conservative Association last night intimated that the major issue for the people of Canada to decide at the next federal election would be whether the future of this country is to be with the British Empire or the United States.

The gentleman responsible for this dictum hopes the voters of the federal riding of Nanaimo will elect him to represent them in the House of Commons at Ottawa after they have given due consideration to this "major issue." He warned his audience, incidentally, that the only word sent to Great Britain from the Prime Minister of Canada in connection with recent European events was an expression of interest in the conference between Chamberlain and Hitler, action that "was in line with the inactivity of the Canadian Government in matters of importance affecting Imperial relations."

When Hon. R. J. Manion, newly-elected leader of the National Conservative Party of Canada, comes out west it is quite likely he will take the parliamentary aspirant we have quoted on one side and suggest to him, in the vernacular, that he has "missed the boat." By the same token, the rest of the people of the Dominion, by this time thoroughly fed up with this out-moded Conservative dodge of flag-waving, are in no danger of an attack of political hysterics.

A psychologist declares that most people are habitually poor guessers. To which any race-track man might add: most habitual guessers are poor people.

This is a more satisfactory hemisphere in which to live. Some Boy Scouts went camping along a river the other day and there have been no domestic war rumors yet.

The Toronto Star reports a sharp division of public opinion in Ontario on Chamberlain. His picture gets a decidedly mixed reception in Toronto theatres. If that be the case in Tory Toronto, we need not have been surprised at some of the hissing we heard in a Victoria theatre last week when his picture appeared on the screen.

The remarks in Toronto of Mr. Maitland, newly-elected B.C. Conservative leader, on Canada's position in the recent European crisis were characterized by a more statesman-like consideration than the short-sighted partisan criticism indulged in by a few newspapers. Said Mr. Maitland: "Mr. King was confronting a great and stern problem. We should be patient. The time to criticize is not in a vortex like that. Our duty, then, is to support the government and reserve judgment."

A dispatch from Australia tells of opposition to a proposal to send some koalas to the San Francisco Exposition. It seems that these little Teddy Bears are becoming more and more rare, and it is feared a long sea journey might be fatal to any that were sent. The public is up in arms, protesting to the newspapers, and the newspapers are protesting to the government.

So that constitutes the big news from Australia these days! The populace is worrying about the effects of sea voyages on Teddy Bears. It makes it sound like a heaven on earth in these times of mutual slaughter, political hysteria, crumbling governments and economic desperation.

MR. BENNETT'S FUTURE

From Calgary Herald

Mr. Bennett's somewhat extended visit in England has aroused speculation in this country concerning his future plans. The general opinion is that he will complete his term in the House of Commons but not run again for by that time his successor in the party leadership will be, or should be, firm in the party saddle.

But over in England, it is said here and there that our distinguished fellow-townsmen will enter British public life and may even join the cabinet. For instance, the National Review, a leading Conservative periodical, said recently that he may soon join a reorganized Chamberlain ministry as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, which does not carry any portfolio.

The National Review is owned by Lady Milner, who has been pressing for a radical cabinet reorganization for some time. She would like to have Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bruce of Australia included in a new and stronger ministry. She characterizes them as "two great Dominion statesmen." She says she is appalled by the "tired, timid, incapable men now about Mr. Chamberlain."

THE CIRCLE

THE HOOP SKIRT and other current portents and signs quite blast the notion of progress in the universe. The women, in appearance, are now precisely where they were in mid-Victorian times. The fact that they want to encumber themselves in bell tents shows that intellectually they are there also.

If you will notice, too, that annoying toy, the yo-yo, is back again in favor after a lapse of some six years and everybody is playing with it—boys on the streets, parents in their kitchens, even captains of industry in their private offices, while their secretaries lie gallantly and say they are in conferences. I shall not be surprised, indeed, to hear that there is a fierce yo-yo competition in progress in the Executive Chamber of the Parliament Buildings across the bay, and personally I am placing my money on Mr. Jack Hart, whose experience with our budgets has made him exceedingly expert in problems of delicate balance and smooth manipulation. The return of the hoop skirt and the yo-yo show you how things don't go ahead. They merely go around in circles, but there is always a new generation to hail an old thing as a new revelation. The girls think hoop skirts are a wonderful discovery of modern engineering science. The children think that the yo-yo is a new invention, whereas the same toy amused the courtiers of Louis XIV.

That is why the young are radicals. Everything seems new and promising to them. The old are Tories because they have seen the wheel turn around before, without any essential change. And they know that the human animal, for all his modern trimmings, still has a hoop-skirt mind; that while he is trying to run a mechanized civilization he really is fitted only for running a yo-yo.

ON THE WAGON

MOST CIVILIZATIONS in the past, as history clearly shows, were far more concerned about their manners than their morals; and today, if we were to spend one-tenth as much money on propagating morality as we spend on propagating moral appearances, this would be a highly moral age. Also very dull.

Well, from what my spies tell me, it seems that manners, as usual, are dictating morals and that the present mode is tending more and more towards morality. Not, of course, because anyone is interested in good behavior particularly, but because it is becoming fashionable to be nice, my spies tell me.

"It's like this," Gladys, my flapper friend and chief spy, explained to me. "The new dresses, you know, are so fussy and quaint a girl has to behave to live up to them, I mean. You can't be wild and wooly, I mean, in hoop skirts, can you? And look at the new hair styles, I mean, all these curls and everything. You can't get away a little tight at a party when you're dressed like Marie Antoinette or something. It doesn't look right. You can't go around with a hoop skirt and a Mary Antoinette hair wave, can you, I mean, with one of these cute curls in your eye? So what I mean is, all the girls are stopping drinking altogether. You'd be surprised how many of us are on the wagon. Really, it's appalling. And we'll stay on, too, until the style changes."

POSTSCRIPT

ONE OF THE MOST profound and truthful things said for a long time has just been said in a new book by James Westbrook Pegler, greatest of American newspaper columnists. His remarks are so universally applicable that I reproduce them here without change:

"Of all the fantastic fog-shapes that have risen off the swamp of confusion since the big war, the most futile and, at the same time, the most pretentious, is the deep-thinking, hair-trigger columnist or commentator, who knows all the answers just offhand and can settle great affairs with absolute finality three or even six days a week."

I guess that will hold us all for a while.

IF WE WERE IN EUROPE

From New York Post

We can hardly estimate in our minds what the dweller in Europe would be willing to pay to prevent a repetition of the last holocaust.

We think Hitler got far more than he should have.

But if we could put ourselves in the place of the average Englishman and Frenchman—already keeping their gas masks handy, prepared to flee their cities—we might well regard the price of this peace as a mighty cheap one, especially since the Czechs will pay in territory whereas the other nations will pay only in prestige.

More, were we in Europe we might feel that, after all, these Sudetens are Germans; that they didn't belong in Czechoslovakia in the first place; that the mistake was just another of the blunders at Versailles.

Because we have the Atlantic between us and the terror—we dare not, decently, denounce the peace of Munich.

BURDENS

For every woe there is a balm,
For every cloud some sun,
For every busy hurried day,
Some rest, and God's well done.

From every burden great or small,
Our spirits shrink to dare,
The back is fitted for the load
'Tis called upon to bear.

Then let us face each day with trust,
With sails unfurled, to court
The breezes of adversity
That waft us into port.

THE STATUS OF CANADA

To the Editor:—During the recent critical period the Canadian press has discussed the question of Canadian participation in a war in which Great Britain was involved. I note that the Australian Attorney-General has stated that "as long as the British Empire remains constituted as it is today, it is impossible for Australia to remain neutral in any war in which Great Britain is involved." That, of course, is correct; and it applies to Canada. If Australia or Canada, or any other overseas dominion, declared its neutrality in a war in which Great Britain was engaged, such a declaration would be ignored by the enemy country. So long as Canada flies the British flag, she is open to attack by the enemies of Great Britain. From this we may deduce that Canada and Australia are not nations, independent and free to act as they desire in the event of war. When an alien becomes naturalized in Canada he does not become a Canadian citizen, because legally there is no such thing. He becomes a British subject. Even five years' residence in Canada itself is not required; to have lived under the British flag for five years suffices.

Here, I venture to say, we touch on one of the causes for failure of the League of Nations. Great Britain had seven votes, herself and the six dominions, now reduced to five by the bankruptcy of Newfoundland. Each dominion posed as a national unit. It must have been galling for Italy or Germany to share the right of voting with Newfoundland, and for these, or other European countries, to find that the British Empire, now a commonwealth, could command seven votes. It is true the dominions, including the Irish Free State, were free to vote as they pleased, but, as a matter of fact, on the bigger issues they stood shoulder to shoulder with the Mother Country. If we of the British Commonwealth are a national unit, as we are proud to claim, why should we act an untruth at Geneva?

T. A. RICKARD.

AN OPEN INVITATION

To the Editor:—His Majesty the King graciously permits us to announce that our fifth annual performance of "The Messiah," on Dec. 14, is to be given in celebration of his birthday.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the Premier of British Columbia have accorded the performance their patronage. We cordially invite singers and players to join with us in celebrating His Majesty's birthday in a manner worthy of the City of Victoria. There are vacancies in chorus and orchestra, particularly in the tenor and bass sections of the chorus. Rehearsals in Memorial Hall; orchestra 7.30 Mondays, chorus 8.30 Fridays.

Victoria Choral and Orchestral Union, 1121 Government Street.

BUSES VS. CARS

To the Editor:—I have read several letters recently in your paper concerning the issue of street cars versus motor buses as a means of transportation for the people of Victoria. I am only a visitor here, and I may not be familiar with all phases of everyday conditions in your city, but nevertheless I can give my views, which may be worthy of some thought on the part of the public. The first consideration should be the great convenience offered to the public by the continued operation of street cars. Not only can they carry a maximum of passengers during rush hours, but most important, they maintain a schedule of regularity and conditions. I do not think that buses could operate a schedule which would permit them to load and unload passengers at every street corner, and I wonder if shoppers loaded with parcels will be able to board a bus and find a restful seat, after a strenuous session in downtown stores?

What is to become of women with small children, and very often a baby carriage, who now find the courtesy and attention of street car operators such a boon?

The B.C. Electric Railway Company's six-cent fare and weekly pass system, now in operation, are within the reach of all, and it is inconceivable that the public would be able to travel as cheaply and as far on a bus line for the same amount.

Then there is the importance of personal safety in the carrying of passengers. The safety of passengers using the street cars, leaves nothing to be desired, but the risk of accidents to school children and the public in general, if buses are allowed to operate, is incalculable.

It is a known fact that equipment and road beds of the B.C. Electric in Victoria are not of the best, but these are faults which could easily be remedied. I am sure that the whole-hearted support of the public for street cars, the company would continue their policy of a faithful and dependable service.

J. STEVENSON,
2680 8th Avenue W., Vancouver.

LIKE HITLER'S PAGANISM

To the Editor:—I feel that the time has come to protest that in this day and age such utter nonsense should be dished up for public consumption by our already hopelessly befuddled population, as far as the social sciences are concerned, as was delivered recently by a popular preacher here.

The answers to the four main questions, posed in advance by the lecturer, were obtained by a method of exegesis and a treatment of eschatology totally unworthy of any who would assume to take that place among any intelligent or educated group which qualifies them for the responsibilities of being teachers of other men and women.

The basic assumption of the British-Israel idea, that the English-speaking people are the descendants of the "God's chosen people" idea of Deut. 14: etc., is to reduce the high development of Christianity introduced to the world back to the old tribal racialism principle of the near-savage civilization some 1400 B.C., when the Jews were fighting with other tribes to gain a homeland and to produce that temporal kingdom for themselves which Solomon ultimately built up materially—and destroyed socially.

No civilized nation today can say that it is conforming to the necessary qualification, even under the old racial conception, laid down as the primary condition of being "God's chosen people" as far back as Exodus 19:5. "If ye will obey my voice and keep my commandments," and the stuff put out on this matter is just as stupid and smacks of the new Hitler paganism. In Hitler's "Mein Kampf," first edition, he states, "The German people are a particularly likable lot." The Sunday lecturer must think the same thing of the people of Victoria when he imagines they accept his answers and explanations to the questions:

1. Can the future be predicted?

2. Will Christ come in our day?

3. Will He be actually and bodily present so that all may see Him?

4. What calamities does Jesus say will visit the earth just before the end?

To undo some of the harm and affront to the intelligent mind of man, the writer would be quite willing to take the same matters up before some of the four or five hundred people who, as the lecturer stated, constituted the audience upon whom the ridiculous diatribe was imposed, if they care to pay the expenses of hiring a hall for the purpose of receiving intelligent explanations of the questions raised. To deal with the fallacies of a lecture from an explanatory viewpoint, and not merely polemically, requires the full time of another lecture on the same subject matter.

ERIC BROOKS.

HUMANS LEARN MORE SLOWLY

From New York Sun

If an ordinary dog, without any pretensions to an exceptional I.Q., can master 60 or more words used by human beings, how does it happen that highly intelligent human beings have managed to master or define so few of the words that dogs use? The infatuation "how wow" is just about as completely and intelligently translated from the doggie as is the more sophisticated "wuff wuff" or "arf arf." What a dog says when he is disturbed during the night by an invader of his territory, and what he says during the high moments of play are obviously different, yet the faithful family dog, lying on the hearthstone with two lambent eyes fixed on his master, might well say, "O master, I who am dumb understand scores upon scores of your words. How does it happen that you have to grope so for what I say?"

THE OLD BARN DANCE

From Windsor Star

In pioneer times, when barn raisings were frequent, barn dances were community events. It was a poor barn indeed that was not opened by a jolly "housewarming." In those days, there was none of the new-fangled fox-trots, "toddles," Charleston or the even newer Black Bottom or Big Apple. There was the occasional dignified waltz but generally speaking it was "Salute your partners and all grand chain" with the booming voice of the caller keeping time to the music as he sang out "and wink your eye as you pass her by, and kiss the next one on the sly."

It is easy for the older folks to warn the youth of today about keeping late hours. It would not be so easy for them to explain, however, what kept them stepping it off until daybreak at a rural barn dance!

And the curious part of it was that in those days it was the middle-aged and more elderly people who insisted on the fiddlers keeping up the music until it was time to go home and feed the cows.

Runciman Report Throws Light On British Policy

THE OFFICIAL "White Paper," issued by the British Government on the Czechoslovakian affair contains the report to London from the British Government's special emissary to Prague, Lord Runciman, upon which Prime Minister Chamberlain largely based his policy.

Lord Runciman's report, couched in that simple, restrained English which distinguishes British official documents, deals at first with the successive and increasing demands made by Sudeten German leaders, with correspondingly increasing concessions by the government of Czechoslovakia. Coming to the so-called "fourth plan," in which the Prague Government tried to meet the demands put forward by Henlein (the Sudeten German leader) in his eight points issued at Karlsbad, Lord Runciman says:

"In my opinion—and I believe in the opinion of the more responsible Sudeten leaders—this plan embodied almost all the requirements of the Karlsbad eight points and with a little clarification and extension could have been made to cover them in their entirety. Negotiations should have at once been resumed on this favorable and helpful basis; but little doubt remains in my mind that the very fact that they were so favorable operated against their chances with the more extreme members of the Sudeten German party."

A few days later came the incident at Mahrish—Ostrau, where certain Sudeten German Deputies, investigating into cases of persons arrested for arms smuggling, were alleged to have been attacked by Czech police, and Lord Runciman expresses the belief that this incident was used as an excuse for the suspension of negotiations. The Prague Government, again giving way to Sudeten demands, secured further discussions, but "this did not suit the policy of the Sudeten extremists," and "incidents were provoked and instigated on September 11 and, with greater effect after Herr Hitler's speech, on September 12." Finally, after the Sudeten leaders had presented a new series of demands, with the Czechoslovak Government prepared to meet them under certain conditions, Hitler refused all further discussion and negotiations were completely broken off. Lord Runciman's functions were at an end.

LORD RUNCIMAN does not hesitate to place responsibility for the "final break." It must rest, he says, "upon Herr Henlein and Herr Frank and upon those of their supporters inside and outside the country who were urging them to extreme and unconstitutional action." Yet for the condition which developed in the first place, he has stern criticism of the Czechs. Thus:

"I have been left with the impression that Czechoslovakian rule in the Sudeten areas for the last 20 years... has been marked by tactless lack of understanding, petty intolerance and discrimination to the point where resentment of the German population was inevitably moving in the direction of revolt.

"Local irritations were added to these major grievances. Czech officials and Czech police, speaking little or no German, were appointed in large numbers to purely German districts; Czech agricultural colonists were encouraged to settle on lands transferred under land reform in the middle of German populations; for the children of these Czech invaders schools were built on a large scale; there is a very general belief that Czech firms were favored as against German firms in allocation of state contracts and that the state provided work and relief for Czechs more readily than for Germans. I believe these complaints to be in the main justified. Even as late as the time of my mission I could find no readiness on the part of the Czechoslovak Government to remedy them on anything like an adequate scale."

LORD RUNCIMAN adds that under these circumstances, and considering the point to which the difficulty had come, a settlement within the frontiers of Czechoslovakia could hardly have been permanent. He did his best to promote such an agreement, but not without misgivings as to whether, when agreement was reached, it could ever be carried out without giving rise to a new crop of suspicions, controversies, accusations and counter-accusations. "I felt that any such arrangement would have been temporary, not lasting."

As the situation developed, with all that came in September, agreement became still more impossible. "It has become self-evident to me that those frontier districts between Czechoslovakia and Germany where the Sudeten population is an important majority should be given full right of self-determination at once. If some session is inevitable, as I believe it to be, it is as well that it should be done promptly and without procrastination. There is real danger, even a danger of civil war, in the continuance of a state of uncertainty. Any kind of plebiscite or referendum would, I believe, be a sheer formality in respect of these predominantly German areas. The inevitable delay involved in taking a plebiscite vote would only serve to excite popular feeling with perhaps most dangerous results."

And Lord Runciman concludes: "I consider, therefore, that these frontier districts should at once be transferred from Czechoslovakia to Germany, and further that measures for their peaceful transfer, including provision of safeguards for the population during the transfer period, should be arranged forthwith by agreement between the two governments."

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "I must make breakfast before I go."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "Illinois"?

OVERSEAS TRADE

To the Editor:—In a letter to the Times, Mr. James Philbert of Mission, B.C., says: "Premier King thinks that farmers in western Canada can sell their crops in Europe and buy European factory goods. Can they do that?"

Not while we have a tariff high enough to enable the producers of such goods in Canada to make a profit of nearly 100 per cent as has lately been disclosed.

He also says: "If goods are sent thousands of miles to market the freight cost of the heavy farm crops is far greater than freight cost for light factory goods."

Certainly. But our present tariff increases the cost to us as much as if the "light factory goods" had to be carried a couple of times around the world.

He also says: "But not one dollar has Premier King spent on factories for western Canada although they are the remedy. Does Premier King understand trade?"

Perhaps Premier King understands trade almost as well as Mr. Philbert himself. Attempts at establishing factories in western Canada have not been a very conspicuous success in the past. A woolen mill at New Westminster that was getting public money to the tune of $4,000 per annum failed to carry on. There is our worst mill amongst other instances. If the present high protective tariff has failed to encourage manufacturing in the west I am afraid that the "remedy" is not the robbery of the public by still more taxation in order to bonus new factories.

Mr. Philbert suggests, "it is time we had a change." He is right. But the change should be in the direction of freedom, not of restriction and regimentation, and the piling up of more national debt to artificially stimulate enterprises that should always rely upon their own merits.

Canada is lucky enough to be an exporting country. She is blessed with an overwhelming abundance of material with which to trade with the world. All trade is at bottom barter. There is no such thing as exporting without importing—unless you are willing to give your products away. Goods alone pay for goods.

"Keep the dollar at home" is a bonehead slogan. The dollar always stays where it belongs.

Free trade has been truly called "the international law of God." It is the true "remedy." Premier King should be commended for every brick he knocks off the tariff wall. He is neither doing it too quickly nor too much. We have a surplus of trade tinkering in Canada with devastating and dismaying results. As soon as will spring up in the west as it by magic, and that without stimulation.

PADLOCK LAWS FOR ALL

To the Editor:—It is stated that if all the provincial governments were to pass a padlock law, the remedy would lie with the electors in each province, to whom each provincial legislature is responsible. But suppose that in one or all provinces the time came when there would not be a Liberal or Tory representative elected to office, and that it was decided by those parties opposed to the Liberal party or the Tory party (as the representatives of financial capital and the vested interests) that these parties would not have the right to use a hall, or to distribute literature, or print a daily publication. If at Ottawa the Liberal or Tory party was in office, would they allow a padlock law to be made operative throughout all the provinces, that would destroy federally the Liberal or Tory party?

Or assume that the province of Alberta, under Mr. Aberhart, outlawed the Liberal party in Alberta, would the minister of justice still maintain that it was a provincial matter? I am afraid it would be disallowed just as quick as the recent legislation in Alberta was disallowed, that affected the financial interests.

If provincial governments have the right to disfranchise certain political elements to whom they are opposed, why all this objection to Soviet Russia for refusing to allow other political parties in the U.S.S.R. that are opposed to the dictatorship of the Soviet government?

As in law all judgments or rulings are founded so far as possible on precedent, the action of the present minister of justice may be productive of more political mischief than he anticipated, in the rapid changing of political events. There is no reason if the padlock law is legal provincially to obstruct and destroy one political party that is recognized as legal by the federal government, why those parties that now assume they are the only legal parties politically, may not at some future date be also declared illegal, it being contended that they are subsidized by the financial and vested interests, and that their policies and programs are detrimental to the best interests of the Canadian people. So that "what is good for the bee may be good for the swarm."

MORE THAN PRAYERS NEEDED

To the Editor:—Can we close our ears to the groaning misery of Ethiopia and China? Can we turn away our face from that immolation that is Spain? Canada is sending unending cargoes of war material across Pacific to the gangster warlords at Yokohama. As she says, "Thank you, sir!" to her good customer, and with the sanctimonious eyes of a hypocrite slips into her treasury those unholy profits, can she shut those eyes to that awful crucifixion taking place on the plains of Eastern Asia, can she save her conscience with the fond illusion that we are not actually driving the nails that fasten to her cross of suffering a great and friendly nation? It goes hard with those who mock God for forgetting their consciousness of right and wrong. Therefore I say again, "by all means let us pray for peace, but also quickly step on the gas, and get ready to fight for that peace which goes with freedom and truth. Otherwise our Empire will pass from us, till there remain no 'red spot' of free soil around the Seven Seas, on which a free-born Britisher may find kneeling ground to say a prayer—even for that mad Prince of Slave-Masters himself." So, friends, go on with the prayer wheel, but go on you brave boys equally and quickly, with those defence works at Albert Head and elsewhere.

Unless indeed you want to be absolutely American, and fall in with F.D.R.'s policy of ultra-pacifism and isolation.

GEORGE ARLISS' DENIAL

To the Editor:—A few years ago a certain magazine published the statement that George Arliss, famous actor, though an opponent of vivisection, was being kept alive by insulin, derived from animal experiments. Mr. Arliss then made this statement: "As I have never had diabetes, nor any disease for which insulin might be prescribed, the report that I am taking insulin is utterly false..."

Knowing George Arliss personally and by reputation to be a great and good man, vigorously opposed to animal experiments and a strong supporter of the anti-vivisection movement, we can state with confidence that he is too high principled to descend to hypocrisy and, being a kindly soul, he did not prosecute the offending paper for libel, as he might have done, but he accepted an apology.

The next effort to discredit him was the statement that he was to impersonate the late Mr. Rockefeller in a screen play which would generously praise the latter's plentiful contributions to medicine and scientific research. Again Mr. Arliss was compelled to deny a false statement. He cannot conscientiously take part in a play lauding the methods of vivisection protagonists, and he said so plainly.

Now, again, he is a victim. A magazine published in April last repeats the already discredited insulin story, so perhaps it is a pity that he did not institute a libel suit in the first place. He writes: "There is no more truth in the statement today than there was when I first denied it some years ago."

Not only is the scandal an annoyance, but it gives Mr. Arliss a good deal of unnecessary trouble in denying it. Perhaps the disseminators of the untruth knew that it is easier to make a misstatement than to overtake it, once it is circulated.

Mr. Arliss asks that there shall be "a denial of this deliberate lie." It would be well for those who wish to bolster up a discredited procedure if they would avoid making libelous statements against those whom they wish to vilify because they stand for ideals which they themselves are unable to understand or appreciate. The undersigned society, of which Mr. George Arliss is a life member, had pleasure in denying these unfortunate untruths.

CONTRARY TO NATURAL LAW

To the Editor:—Science for ages has formulated natural laws. Mankind has only taken any notice of these laws as long as they fitted in with a monetary system, whereby a standard of value was tied to gold. Unfortunately, this hypothetical value was not real. Happiness was man's sole sane objective. And love man's sole power for good. Any other senses he had were not to his mental advancement. Raising of the price of gold only shows the loss of value of money.

Nature provides everything man requires for happiness and love for very little effort on his part.

Greed for money alone has hampered the distribution of these products.

Fear has been fostered to promote greed. Thus our faculties have been curtailed, to our own downfall. National boundaries and so-called patriotism have been used to enhance natural resources controlled by so-called conservative vested interests until at least these unnatural boundaries cannot contain their greed and force their expansion even when the adjacent property belongs to a brother nation under the same kind of stress.

A threat of war ensues? And the world is in danger of being drawn in. Super states are formed but this does not take away the cause, united states, of America, of Russia, of Switzerland and lastly of Germany are formed, all to obviate the inevitable.

Capitalism has been subjected to bureaucracy until capital has no more value. Only the production for use of natural resources has any value to mankind, and the mad scramble for these in Europe has led to insane tariffs, to hold what has been gained in the past by the bureaucrats as servants of the poor capitalist who now is likely to be left holding the bag of valueless money.

So-called statesmen attempt to avert war with the promise of loans that can never be repaid or settlements that in the end must be superseded through the stress of economic isolation, which must inevitably follow.

Besides this, all man has in the past supposed that a spiritual bond of love must entail a material contract, and has based a myriad of false laws on this basis, all contrary to the natural law of love.

In fact, a constitution was supposed to supersede love, which is God.

"THEM PIGS IS OUT AGIN!"

To the Editor:—Them there pesky pigs is out agin," said Hank, the hired man. So I gathered my mending tools and made off to find that hole in the fence where "them pesky pigs" went through into the next field. Now this old mother pig and her family of 12 have the run of a fine patch of alfalfa. Nearby stands a self-feeder filled with ground oats, corn, wheatbran, salt and kernalene. There is a 10-gallon can of sweet skim milk to drink, one for evening and one for morning. Twice a day I summon all hands into the shed for roll-call in engaging musical tones. I confine the father pig in a pen nearby where his numerous progeny may gaze upon his manly appearance and resolve to grow up along similar lines.

I have even rigged up a scratching rack where the mother pig may all the embarrassment of an itching back. Verily, there is nothing cking to render these pigs happy, healthy and contented. Why then do they hearken unto the words of designing strangers as to the grand things in the next field?

Every citizen has an unrestricted opportunity to help choose or dismiss his rulers. Any one may criticize public officials without repression, even though the same may be unwarranted. No man is forced into military service in times of peace. Any man may exercise his personal initiative to great limit so long as he does not encroach upon the rights of his fellows. He may worship God as he pleases, or not at all. His children may enjoy the advantages of an extensive educational experience in a system devoid of harmful propaganda. All these do not exhaust the list of democratic benefits.

An' thousands of our people listen with eager ears to the honeyed words of the paid agents of foreign isms at variance with our national ideals and traditions. Is it that they seek wisdom? Would that such were the fact. Are they weary of all the blessings which democracy, at its worst, furnishes with sur hands?

I, the handy man about our place, with no financial resource, no income, too old to serve professionally and yet too young to lie down and expire, can vision no grand place in which to live, to love and to die.

South Africa Seen As Land of Contrasts

Miss R. Humphrey Tells Varsity Women of Her Trip

South Africa was depicted as a land of contrasts by Miss Ruth Humphrey in her fascinating talk given before the University Women's Club at its meeting last night at the home of the Misses Aylard, Elliott Street.

Miss Humphrey has just returned to Victoria after spending 15 months in South Africa, during which she saw much of the urban and rural communities. A series of photographs, shown by Dr. Kaye Lamb by means of a projector, enhanced the interest of the lecture.

Reference was made to the intense nationalism engendered by the Boer War and fostered by the politicians of the Nationalist Party, also to the burning question of language and the ever-present color problem.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, the president, announced that the next meeting of the club would be held on November 16 at the home of Mrs. H. E. Young, Oliver Street. Dr. Allison Peabees will be the speaker.

On December 3, the club will celebrate its 30th anniversary by a dinner at the Empress Hotel.

On October 23, the new household economies unit at the Victoria High School will be opened and the club members were invited to tea.

It was also announced that the $100 scholarship, presented by Senator and Mrs. Green and known as the Cecilia Green Memorial Scholarship, had been presented through the club to Ernest McMin, now at Victoria College.

Miss Lois Hamblett, an accomplished young pianist, played two delightful numbers and was given a hearty vote of thanks. Supper was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

At the recent meeting of the Esquimalt Local Association of Girl Guides, Victoria North District, at the Brownie Headquarters, St. Paul's Church House, a donation of $2.50 was made to the campsite fund. Mrs. G. P. Clarke presided. Mrs. V. Pritchard gave an account of the building up-to-date. Mrs. Lance Hall gave an interesting description of the camp.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. W. E. Barclay, convener of the recent home cooking stall, which netted $5.25.

A letter was received from Miss Lownds, who resigned the captaincy of the Esquimalt Girl Guides on her marriage, conveying thanks for the gift and letters of congratulation from the association. Mrs. Pritchard announced that the company had been taken over by Miss P. McDonald.

Mrs. R. P. Matheson, Brown Owl, reported that two first-class Brownies are ready to "fly up" to the guide company, and the ceremony will take place at a joint meeting of the company and pack in the Scout Hall, on Friday evening at 7.

The association planned their annual Hallowe'en party for Esquimalt Guides and Brownies.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson, of the Normal School staff, will be the speaker at the lecture and concert that will follow the annual banquet to be held by the Women's Association of the Fairfield United Church next Monday in observance of the 26th anniversary of the founding of the church.

The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m., and the lecture and concert will be held in the church auditorium at 8 p.m. Dr. Anderson, who has won an enviable reputation as a lecturer of unbounded humor, has chosen for her subject "The Humor and Pathos of the Teaching Profession," with particular emphasis on the humorous side of the work.

A fine program of musical numbers is being arranged. Normal school students and children will be admitted at a reduced rate.

Russia Potential Strong Ally of Democracy

Says C. J. Ketchum In Address To Clubwomen

If the recent crisis in Europe had terminated in hostilities and Russia had entered into war against Germany, her contribution to the cause of democracy would have been a considerable one, not only because of the contribution of her fighting forces, but because the strong link she has with trades unions throughout the world would have helped to align organized labor in all countries on the side of democracy.

This was one of the interesting opinions expressed by Carleton J. Ketchum, M.C., in his address on "Russia since the Revolution," given before about 400 members of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

COMMUNISM DEAD
Russia can be a potentially valuable and strong ally of any country, he observed. The Soviet is no longer spending money, in fomenting world revolution, for Communism as a doctrine there is practically dead. Now that the European crisis is over for the present, she will go back to an era of internal development, the building up of a great economic wall around Russia, and the working towards the complete attainment of the Five Year plan.

Mr. Ketchum attested to the efficient preparations made by Soviet Russia to meet war, should it arise. One of the reasons why she has concentrated on building up a great air force was because of her hostility to Japan, which was a potential enemy threatening from the air.

HUGE ARMY
Russia had a standing army of 1,000,000 men, a reserve of over 500,000 and a potential army of another 1,000,000 in its OGPU, one of the most ruthless but efficient police forces in the world. The U.S.S.R. was still apprehensive of Germany's designs with regard to the Ukraine, which possessed great quicksilver and other mineral wealth, and within one year of a war Russia, which had put 12,000,000 men in the field in the Great War, would have mobilized 5,000,000 men, he believed.

After describing the hierarchy and organization of the U.S.S.R., Mr. Ketchum declared that it had today attained two of its aims—a classless society and the equality of the sexes.

EQUALITY OF WOMEN

There women have come into their own and equal pay for equal work is the slogan. Forty-two percent of all citizens gainfully employed in Russia were now women, the speaker said. Thirty million women were employed on collective farms and as millinery more in industry. One million women held government posts; 400,000 were elected members of the Soviet; 400,000 served on government commissions; 112,000 were co-judges in the courts; 100,000 were members of boards of co-operatives.

SEMI-IMPRESSED LABOR
Today in Russia nobody is starving, but only few are in jobs they like or were intended for. There is almost a system of semi-impressed labor.

The speaker touched upon the internal propagandizing through the medium of the radio, the theatre and the cinema, and briefly reviewed the marriage and divorce laws. With 5,421 newspapers in the country, all state-owned, and the radio and cinemas state-owned, every channel is open for propaganda.

Miss Marian Robinson of Esquimalt High School, who won the club's bursary recently, was introduced by the president, Mrs. Harold Campbell.

Miss Winnifred Applegate sang two numbers delightfully, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. C. Warn.

World Woman's Party Formed

DETROIT (CP)—The World Woman's Party, designed to raise women throughout the world to the same level of opportunity as women in the United States now enjoy, was launched during closing sessions here of the National Woman's Party this weekend.

The new party will have headquarters in Geneva, near the League of Nations Buildings. Plans for the world-wide party were made after the party decided on a nation-wide campaign for passage of the equal rights amendment now before Congress. Campaign plans were completed at a national convention just ended here.

The proposed amendment of the United States Constitution reads: "Men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Weddings

BENNETT-YOUNG

At St. Mary's Church, Soanenos, Saturday afternoon at 4.15, Rev. T. L. Hipp united in marriage Kathleen Mabel Young, daughter of Mrs. Dingee, Duncan, and Edwin Raymond Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bennett, Manchester Road, Victoria.

The Harvest Thanksgiving decorations of the church gave a lovely autumn setting for the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her elder brother, Mr. Harry Young, and looked charming in a blue hand-knitted suit with a navy blue hat and black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and roses. Mrs. W. Young of Victoria was matron of honor and wore a becoming black suit, fox fur with black accessories, and a corsage of red carnations and fern. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Eric Foster.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Dingee receiving in a gown of wine triple sheer with hat to tone. A buffet supper was served from the bride's table where the three-tiered wedding cake held place of honor, the decorations being carried out in pale yellow and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett left later on a trip up-island, the bride donning a tweed jigger coat. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Foster, Misses Lil and Ruth Bennett, Mrs. W. Young, Mr. B. Livesey, Mr. H. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong, Patsy and Barbara of Victoria.

FATT-KELPIN

At a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. Father Geukers in the Bishop's Palace, View Street, on Monday afternoon, Nora Louise, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Kelpin, 1270 Faithful Street, became the bride of Mr. George Frederick Fatt, second son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Fatt, "Dulce Domum," Trutch Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in grosville plum velvet, with small velvet hat of the same material finished on the crown with blush rose and grosville plum ostrich feathers. She carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Harry West, Winnipeg, was matron of honor, in a frock of raffia beige lace, with sash and braided halo hat of tropical velvet. She carried an arm bouquet of gerbera. Mr. Louis Fatt, Jordan River, brother of the groom, was best man.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Kelpin received in a frock of schooner blue sheer, with hat in wine shade trimmed with feathers, and was assisted by Mrs. Fatt, in a frock of Eleanor blue crepe, with a small hat to match. They both wore corsage bouquets of Joanna Hill roses and carnations. Bronze chrysanthemums and golden rod decorated the reception rooms, and the young couple stood before the fireplace, which was banked with dahlias and chrysanthemums in deep pink and bronze tones. The refreshment table was covered with a Madeira cloth, centred with a large silver bowl of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Tall white tapers glowed in silver candelabra at either end.

The bride cut the wedding cake, which stood on a separate table strewn with rose petals, with a silver knife, which was a gift at her mother's wedding.

After a honeymoon spent in Seattle and parts of the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Fatt will return to make their home on Cook Street. The bride traveled in a black tailored suit, with white sheer blouse, black pillbox hat and accessories, with a topcoat of beige camel hair, collared in wolf.

MONK-GOURLAY

A marriage took place quietly at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Williams, Yale Avenue, at 4.15 Monday afternoon, October 3, when their niece, Miss Yvette Whiteford Gourelay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray Gourelay of Leduc, Alta., became the bride of Mr. George Benning Monk, son of Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Benning Monk of Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Monk will reside in Winnipeg.

Final plans for the bazaar were made at the monthly meeting of the Institute last night. Members contributed a generous and varied assortment of jam, which will be sent to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Story of Jade Is Told to Club

The dinner-meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, held at the Y.W.C.A. last evening, was especially interesting in that the speaker and artists were all members of the club. Mrs. E. G. Maynard spoke on the subject of "Jade," and brought a wealth of knowledge to the club in a most interesting talk.

Tracing the history of the stone from the year 7000 B.C., Mrs. Maynard stated that formerly all jade came from China and Turkestan, but that now the major portion comes from Burma, where some 2,000 Chinese produce it. Jade is easily mined, she said, with shovel and pickaxe and the outer appearance of the stone gives no indication of what precious piece might be found at the core.

The "stone of heaven," as it is called by the Chinese, is thought to be a protection against evil, and every Chinese household possesses a piece of even the humblest sort. Mrs. Maynard's description of the auction in Peking, which is conducted in entire silence and an enigma to the uninitiated, was most interesting.

Miss Bessie Crowther extended a vote of thanks to the speaker, expressing the pleasure of the members. Mrs. Harold Lord sang two pleasing numbers, "Three Questions" (Johnson) and "Were I" (Bond), being accompanied by Miss Bessie Crowther. Mrs. James A. Bland presided.

It was announced that "open house" will be held in the club rooms Tuesday, October 18, and that plans are under way for a Hallowe'en party to be held in the club rooms on Monday evening, October 31.

Says Jews Would Be Asset to Canada

Chapter Assists Many Students

At the meeting of the Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter I.O.D.E., held yesterday afternoon at "Clovelly," the home of Lady Barnard, Mrs. G. P. Clarke, regent, announced that the recent contest at the fall fair had netted $160 for the child welfare and educational funds.

A special bursary of $50 was granted to a first-year student at Esquimalt High School, the daughter of an ex-service man, now deceased. A grant of $35 was made for school textbooks for needy students at Lampson Street School and Esquimalt High School and for books of reference for the high school library. The educational secretary, Mrs. R. P. Matheson, reported on the Esquimalt schools' exercises, when the regent had presented a cheque for school books and a framed certificate to Joan Brealey, winner of the chapter's prize at Lampson Street School. She announced that the calendars will be ready for delivery at the November meeting.

A donation was made for the purchase of a wreath and poppies for the Armistice Day services. Mrs. J. Quinn and committee will decorate the graves in the Esquimalt naval and military cemetery. The chapter will co-operate with the Esquimalt Community Club in the Armistice service at the Esquimalt Memorial Park. The usual grant was made to the work in India fund.

Mrs. H. Allan was appointed delegate to the Founders' Day entertainment committee. Reports of Girl Guides, Scouts and Navy League were given by the conveners, and Mrs. C. Bishop gave the Echoes report.

A vote of thanks was given for Mr. H. O. Austin, to whom the chapter is indebted for beautiful posters and other assistance. Announcement was made that Mrs. C. T. Beard and Mrs. E. V. Finland have rejoined the chapter.

Miss M. Morrison, school nurse, was a welcome guest and spoke on the milk fund and other school matters. After the business, tea was served by Lady Barnard. The floral decorations of the reception rooms included some magnificent dahlias, with goldenrod and autumn foliage.

U.S. Women Prepare For Royal Visit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Although there has not been so much as an official murmur that King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will cross the border into the United States during their visit to Canada next summer, Washington social arbiters are debating whether the wife of the United States President should curtsy to their Majesties if they call at the White House.

Asked what she would do if their Majesties came, Mrs. Roosevelt smilingly replied: "I shall be told by the State Department exactly what to do and do exactly as I am told."

The consensus in social circles was that the customary American forms of social greeting would be the thing, rather than the curtsy.

Men New Target In Play By Wife of "Time" Editor

By GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK—Clare Boothe's new show, "Kiss the Boys Good-bye," has made its Broadway debut—and society folk are hailing to their bombproof shelters.

Miss Boothe happens to be the holy terror of Park Avenue, and at her approach pedigreed blue-bloods deny their listing in the Social Register. She frightens them by what she writes, so naturally they are attracted, like moths to the flame, wherever her shows are playing. Then they sulk away in their top hats and ermine to the snobbish taverns to discuss the calumny that Miss Boothe has heaped upon them.

Also, they are not forgetting that in private life Miss Clare Boothe is Mrs. Henry R. Luce, wife of the young publisher of Time, Fortune, Life and other journals; and that, therefore, she is a social arbiter and that incuring her ire is like sounding one's own knell of doom. So it was that the premiere of "Kiss the Boys Good-bye" brought out the untitled nobility of Manhattan's upper classes. Oh, yes, and still fresh, like the viper's sting, was the memory of Miss Boothe's last work, "The Women," which exposed Park Avenue ladies for the feline creatures they are and showed them up at their worst.

SCRATCH

Well, here is "Kiss the Boys Good-bye" and Miss Boothe is in no more charitable mood than she was the last time about the sophisticates. She is on a hilarious track on this occasion because she has taken advantage of the nation's standing joke, namely the dreary search for a Scarlett O'Hara, as the theme of her current clanking sermon.

A group of terrible people are gathered for a week-end and among them is a movie producer in quest of a southern belle to typify the south in that best-selling saga, "Kiss the Boys Good-bye." He is a coarse mogul and his fellow week-enders aren't much better.

Then our heroine turns up. She is as southern as a mint julep on the veranda of the old plantation and more than anything else in the world, she wants to play Velvet O'Toole in "Kiss the Boys Good-bye."

But the gentlemen in the party want her for other purposes and a broken-down glamour girl isn't much competition, either.

So pit Miss Innocence from the land of honeysuckle against a hard-boiled mogul, and what do you suppose happens? Exactly. She is ahead of the game at the final curtain and she exposes them all for inglorious nitwits. And she gets the part of Velvet O'Toole, too.

And that is the gist of it. One

Commoner Who Wed King Mentioned In Hearing

NEW YORK (AP)—The name of a commoner who married a king—and eventually had her marriage validated by royal decree after her husband's death—was drawn into another strange romance today.

On the record of a bankruptcy hearing was the story of an impoverished New York business executive, John Harris, that he was engaged to marry Princess Aspasia, morganatic wife of the late King Alexander of Greece.

Even while approaching the brink of bankruptcy, Harris told Referee Peter Olney, yesterday, he showered the princess with regal gifts which, lavish as they were, still did not cover her expenses—far from it, he said.

But Raymond Zeltz, trustee in bankruptcy, who is attempting to discover Harris' assets, took no such sensational view of the hearts-across-the-sea affair. "We claim she's holding money for the bankrupt," said Murray C. Stett, counsel for the trustee.

During the four months immediately preceding the filing of his voluntary petition in bankruptcy, Harris acknowledged, he gave the princess $25,000.

Under their marriage contract, he added, he had assumed obligation to redecorate Princess Aspasia's London town house for the society debut of her daughter.

An Athenian woman, Aspasia Manos, the princess married the 26-year-old King of Greece, second son of the deposed Constantine, in 1919. After his death, her daughter was born in Paris in 1922, the marriage was validated, so that Alexander's daughter became the King's legal heir, though she obtained no right to the throne.

In a kitchen laboratory opened recently in New York City everything possible, including the wall surface, was made of glass.

Prevention Week Is Educational

All Governments Combine In Campaign Against Heavy Loss in Canada

This is Fire Prevention Week. Aided by the Dominion, provincial and civic governments, hundreds of municipalities throughout Canada are conducting campaigns to discover and remove specific fire hazards and to educate citizens in the common causes of fire.

"The object of this week," said Fire Chief Alex. Munroe, of the Victoria department, today, "is to focus public attention on the terrific loss of life and property from fires and to secure the co-operation of all the citizens in an attempt to remedy the situation which assumes the proportion of a national calamity."

The chief continued: "Through progress in this scientific age, we are having to contend with fires originating from causes unknown a few years ago, such as chemicals, electric appliances and the many other equally beneficial results of man's ingenuity. With ordinary common sense and care their quota in our annual fire loss could be cut out entirely."

"As a result of civic, provincial, and Dominion legislation, such as, for instance, our local building by-law, our fire-prevention by-law, the provincial Fire Marshal Act and promulgations from our Dominion Fire Commissioner's office and other like ordinances, the increased hazards from these new introductions are controlled somewhat by the rules and regulations embodied in these various enactments which call for exhaustive tests, rigid inspection and insistence on certain standards and safety devices in their construction and installation, all having for their final object the safety and welfare of the general public, a real consideration you will agree."

"It is an outstanding and most regrettable fact, though, that with all these regulations and fool-proof devices the greatest cause of all fires still remains very much at large. I refer to 'carelessness,' the greatest ally that fire has. Seventy-five per cent of all the fires in our own city during 1937 were directly attributable to carelessness on the part of some individual or individuals. Appalling as this may seem, I can assure you that if anything it is an under-estimate of the actual percentage."

INSPECTIONS

"So, when your fire department, which functions every second of the year, calls your attention to a few 'do's' and many 'don'ts,' remember they are your paid servants, working only in your collective interests. Lend them your ears and, in doing so, you will be doing your part toward reducing the three out of four fires due to carelessness."

"Each and every month of this year over 1,000 premises in this city were inspected by fire department officers, as a result of which, I can assure you, many potential fires in the form of hazards were avoided. This inspection work is tiresome, exacting and monotonous in its regularity, but any relaxation of its vigilance would incur risks from serious conflagration."

"Fire Prevention Week, as I said, before, is a week set aside to arouse your consciousness of fire hazards, but, to be effective, it must be kept in mind not just during this week, but all the year round, and at this time I would ask your serious consideration and self-application where necessary of the following for the years ahead:

"Don't presume, because your heating equipment was in good safe and clean condition last year, that such is the case now—142 fires which occurred in 1937 were caused by dirty or defective chimneys, pipes, stoves, heaters, furnaces, etc."

"Keep your matches in a metal container and out of the reach of children. Two families in this city who had fires in their homes as a result of not doing so last year, can vouch for the advisability of this simple precaution."

"Never use gasoline or any other volatile liquid to quicken your fire. This is a direct invitation to disaster."

"There are still a number of people who, during the cold weather, dump their ashes where convenient (instead of in the proper approved receptacle). Seven families in Victoria had very unfortunate experiences as a result of doing so last year."

"A number of fires in 1937 were attributable to faulty electric wiring and fixtures, in homes and places of business. Have your electrical equipment inspected and any work or additions made by a qualified responsible electrician—not an amateur."

"Householders hanging clothes too close to heaters, stoves, etc., were responsible for five alarms to this department, and consequent damage."

In two instances, electrical equipment was left with the switch 'on.' These entailed calls to the department and considerable property loss."

"Smokers' carelessness was responsible for 31 of the department's many alarms. Cigar and cigarette butts thrown out of windows on to open awnings; left on upholstered chairs; thrown amongst inflammable materials, etc. Pipe ashes carelessly thrown in wastepaper baskets and both types of smokers throwing matches just where convenient. Use metal receptacles and cut these fires down. The bed smoker still persists in the most fatal of all smokers' habits to the danger of others as well as himself."

FIRE ALARMS

"Every fire has its incipient

stage, at which time it is easily extinguished, so don't delay in calling your fire department. Acquaint yourself and the members of your family or employees with the location of the nearest fire alarm box and with the telephone number—G 1122. Be sure your own telephone is in working order and, if not, make haste to the nearest one or alarm box. When telephoning an alarm of fire, dial the number G 1122 carefully giving the fire alarm operator your message slowly and distinctly. Have him repeat it and it will not be long before you have a crew busy. Don't lift up the receiver and yell 'fire' and hang up. This does happen, sometimes."

"And, most important, when calling the fire department on business other than an alarm of fire, use either G 1124 or G 2811. By using the alarm number you may delay an urgent call."

"In conclusion, I would like to express to all the citizens of Victoria my sincere appreciation of the co-operation and help they have given this department in the past, and which, in the best interests of all, I trust will be continued in the future."

Fire Claimed Lives of 105 Children Last Year

Last year the fire claimed as victims in Canada 246 men, women and children. Even so, this was a reduction of 101 over the previous year.

In 1936, 189 children lost their lives by fire, while in 1937, 105 children's lives were claimed.

The responsibility for such tragedies can, in many cases, be laid directly to the negligence of parents who far too often leave their helpless little ones alone in the house while they visit neighbors or go to a show. These holocausts frequently occur in rural districts where neighbors are long distances away and the parents are unable to reach their burning home in time to save their children from a horrible death.

It is every parent's duty to teach his children the principles of fire prevention. They should not be allowed to play with fire, matches should be kept out of their reach and the playing with celluloid toys should be discouraged. By a strict adherence to the use of common sense, parents can thus save themselves the bitter anguish and lifelong regret which must be ever present when a child perishes by their neglect."

The stegosaurus dinosaur had only one means of defence; a powerful, spiked tail, which it swung at its adversaries like a club.

The Chest won't be filled unless you help.

Careless Smokers Caused 12,963 Fires

In 12,963 instances last year, $2,700,000 worth of property went up in smoke due to careless smokers. Fires from this cause are top-ranking in the list of causes, as reported to the Dominion Fire Commissioner for 1937. Ten years ago this type of fire numbered slightly less than 3,000 for the whole of Canada. But with a steady increase in the number of smokers, principally among the fair sex, there appears also to have developed an indifference to the hazards of fire from carelessly disposed cigarettes, tobacco and matches that is hardly imaginable. With an increase of 430 per cent in the number of fires from this cause, "smokers' carelessness" can now be classed as Public Enemy No. 1 as far as fires are concerned.

Gasoline Creates Serious Hazard

Fires from gasoline and other petroleum products in Canada numbered 1,433 in 1937 and caused property damage of over $1,500,000, and resulted in the loss of many lives. Hundreds of millions of gallons of gasoline are consumed annually in this country, but it is the misuse of a few gallons which has been responsible for the mounting toll of dead and injured and heavy property damage.

A gallon of gasoline properly vaporized has the explosive force of 82 pounds of dynamite. Gasoline should never be used in the house for dry-cleaning purposes. Even the very act of cleaning clothes in gasoline develops static electricity which is liable to set off the fumes without warning. This has often happened, too, when floors are cleaned with gasoline.

In most provinces in Canada a fire insurance policy may be rendered null and void if more than one quart of gasoline is kept in a building without special permit. And even that limit must be kept in a tightly-closed metal can, never in a glass bottle. The handling of gasoline in the presence of naked lights is a dangerous practice. Attempts to transfer this volatile liquid from one vessel to another in the presence of lanterns has resulted in numerous deaths and injuries.

The Chest needs filling—be a good neighbor and lend a hand."

Junior Chamber to Support Airport

Members Think City Should Take Advantage of Federal Government Offer

The value and advantages in having Victoria directly linked with Trans-Canada Airlines, were stressed by Thomas Sturgess, chairman of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, last night at a general meeting of the organization.

Mr. Sturgess pointed out that the establishment of an airport in this city would be less difficult now as an article appearing in the Times, quoting R. W. Mayhew, M.P., indicated that the Dominion Government had come forward with an offer that promised to facilitate matters considerably.

He referred to Mr. Mayhew's statement to the effect that Trans-Canada Airlines had agreed to extend its service to Victoria if the city would provide permanent airport facilities, and that the Dominion Government had offered to give substantial financial assistance toward providing the facilities.

The aviation chairman declared that Victoria should take advantage of such a golden opportunity and announced that his committee would go to work immediately with the senior chamber aviation committee on the matter.

LIGHTING CONTEST

The committee of the chamber that will conduct the Christmas home decorative lighting contest this year, will start preparations for the competition in the near future, it was reported.

The decorative lighting contest received an encouraging response from the public at its introduction last year, in spite of the fact that the committee had only a short time to promote the plan.

It was pointed out at the meeting that this contest was originated for the sole purpose of giving in the residential districts a cheerful appearance during the festive season. A large motor caravan was formed of citizens last Christmas for a tour of the illuminated homes and proved to be a big success. It is hoped to offer the caravan a much larger array this season.

C. Conway, president, announced to the meeting that 15 committees, embracing a large part of the membership, were at the present time working on junior chamber activities for this year and in 1939.

Traffic conditions in the city were discussed by the meeting and appreciation was extended to the Kiwanis Club for their efforts to safeguard school children through the formation of the school safety patrol. A suggestion that the chamber strike a committee to aid the Kiwanis in supplementing their campaign, met with the approval of the members. Members stressed the point that automobile drivers passing through school zones were still careless and one of the main reasons for this was the smallness of the signs warning drivers to "go slow." Several suggestions to remedy this was handed on to the committee.

Jack Hartree reported that the first edition of "Capital City Speaks," the junior chamber publication, would be published before the next meeting.

25 Years Ago

OCTOBER 11, 1913
(From the Times Files)

A letter will be read at the next meeting of the City Council from the Attorney-General with regard to the observance of the Lord's Day Act. This communication has been sent in reply to the decision of the council at Monday's session to ask the minister to enforce the act of the Canadian Parliament in preference to an obsolete British statute.

Abandoning the regular council session last evening, which had been called to deal with the contracts for pipe to be used in the Sooke waterworks undertaking, the aldermen devoted the evening to an investigation of the allegation of attempted bribery alluded to at the previous session of the council, thereby adopting the course recommended in the Times.

Billy Davies announces that he will hold his first intercity boxing tournament at the Victoria Theatre, under J.B.A.A. auspices, on Thanksgiving Day. Al Davies, the local bantam, will be featured in the headliner.

Fire Chief Davis states that the new 80-horsepower motor tractor for No. 2 fire engine for the Yates Street hall has been dispatched from the Seagrave shops and is on its way across the continent. It is expected daily.

B.C. Exhibit for Fair Arranged

W. Lloyd Craig, director of the British Columbia Bureau of Tourist Development, completed final arrangements today for the B.C. exhibit with Golden Gate International Exposition officials. The exhibit will stress natural resources, sporting events, recreation and industry.

Craig expressed the conviction the exhibits will draw 1938 fair visitors into their areas, that the Northwest will be well exploited by the exposition.

Public Ownership Trend Reported

Reporting a noticeable trend towards public ownership in the sections he visited and a high measure of success in that field in Edmonton and Regina particularly, L. F. Brimer, engineer engaged by R. W. Beck to assist in advising the city on B.C. Electric franchise matters, returned from Alberta points over the week-end.

He will make a report to the council on transportation and power questions he studied on his trip.

To illustrate the manner in which cities were building their own plants, he presented a press item from the Edmonton Journal dealing with the Alberta capital's activity along public ownership lines. The item dealt specifically with new developments in that city, where a steam plant is being installed.

Langford

Mrs. H. F. Dack and Mrs. W. H. Goodman were hostesses at the St. Matthew's Guild meeting at Holmwood Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Hincks presided. Details of Dorcas work distributed throughout the month was given by the secretary, Mrs. P. N. Welch. Arrangements were made for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. A. F. Bayles, when Mrs. D. M. Duncan, president of the diocesan W.A., will be the speaker.

The Girls' Branch of St. Matthew's W.A., at their meeting held at the home of Miss R. Bullen, decided to hold a Hallowe'en tea at the home of Miss Glenys Smedley on November 2.

The annual meeting of the Langford Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the schoolhouse on October 12.

The women's auxiliary to the Prince Edward Branch, No. 91, Canadian Legion, met Monday, with Mrs. A. G. Mackie in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. W. Maughan, distributed literature from the community service office. The members decided to hold an executive meeting on October 17 to arrange for the annual Armistice Day remembrance social.

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S.

The First United Church Young People's Society met on Tuesday night, with 45 members present. Sidney Pettit of Victoria College gave an interesting and instructive summary of events leading to the recent Czechoslovakian crisis. A Thanksgiving Day hike is being arranged by Ken Macdonald and Doug Balfour, to start from the church at 9.30 a.m. Monday. Miss Mary Loudoun led the devotional period on the theme, "Entering the Kingdom of God." Rev. Mr. Bell pronounced the benediction.

H. MAYAR HEADS WARD LIBERALS

Chosen President of Wards One and Three for Third Consecutive Year

H. Mayar was re-elected president of Wards One and Three of the Saanich Liberal Association at the annual meeting held last week in St. Aidan's Hall for his third consecutive term.

P. A. Alexander was chosen vice-president and Donald Plinder secretary. N. W. Whittaker, M.P.P., was named honorary president and Alan Chambers honorary vice-president.

Speakers during the evening were Mr. Chambers and Mr. Whittaker. The former spoke on unemployment insurance and stressed the value of such a scheme. Mr. Whittaker reviewed the British Columbia Liberal convention in Kelowna.

MUSICAL MUSINGS

by HECTOR CHARLESWORTH

A most important musical development this year has been the "come back" of high grade records and recording instruments; after a period of neglect, it should not be forgotten that by these means good music became habitual to millions of homes long before radio existed. The birth of public interest in a healthy sign of musical progress.

October releases of Victor Records keep pace with the revival, and the musical values involved could not be better demonstrated than by that of the great soprano, Kirsten Flagstad, singing the tragic aria "Monstrous Fiend" from Beethoven's "Fidelio" (RED SEAL, 14972). The true quality and colour of her voice are more fully revealed than in any broadcast of hers that I have listened to. Admirable also are two "Carmen" episodes (RED SEAL, 14985) sung by the gifted Brazilian mezzo, Bruna Castagna. Especially memorable are her low tones in the scene from Act III when the enchantress reads death in her cards. John Charles Thomas' vocal splendour, and perfect French diction, are manifest in two lyrics (RED SEAL, 15184) of which Augustus Holmes' patriotic "Au Pays" is appropriate just now.

Gifted Canadiana figure in new instrumental releases. Reginald Stewart, eminent conductor and pianist, makes his first appearance in Victor catalogues with two brilliantly executed piano compositions, (RED SEAL, 29087) Rubenstein's "Staccato Etude" and Johannes Scherzo. Over ten years ago a young Toronto pianist, Gerald Moore, went to London, where he has won renown. He figures jointly with the famous viola player, William Primrose, in a noble rendering of Brahms' beautiful Sonata in F Flat Major (MASTERPIECE SET M-422).

New orchestral releases include the familiar and exhilarating Polovetzian Dances from Borodin's "Prince Igor" (RED SEAL, 15168-70) interpreted with virile abandon by the Philadelphia Orchestra under Stokowski. Vital also with Oriental rhythms is the Barcarole from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," played by the Boston "Pops" Orchestra under Arthur Fiedler (RED SEAL, 15218). The classics are represented by Haydn's Military Symphony in G Major, played by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra under Bruno Walter, probably the greatest living interpreter of that composer (MASTERPIECE SET M-422).

After the death of the young New York genius, George Gershwin, the well known conductor Nathaniel Shilkret presented on the Magic Key broadcast a Memorial Programme, representing every phase of his work, from his early operetta, "Lady Be Good" to the more serious "Porgy and Bess". Of unique interest was a choral setting of "Rhapsody in Blue" sung by the Victor Salon Group. Other distinguished singers also participated and all numbers were directly recorded at the time. They now take the form of a "Gershwin Memorial Album" (VICTOR CONCERT SERIES C-29) and reveal Gershwin as a genius, whose melodies will probably live, even though as in the case of Stephen Foster, his harmony was more limited.

The Augustana Choir of New York, conducted by Henry Veld, is growing in fame, and a lovely example of its tone and expression is Kodaly's "Evening" (RED SEAL, 14971). Britain's army has been much in our minds lately, and special interest attaches to a series of records (120900-1-2) "Tattoo-Aldershot-1937" in which are heard the massed bands of the Aldershot and Eastern Commands, rendering stimulating march numbers. Unique in quality is a record by Anthony Galia-Rini, an amazing accordion player (26020) who succeeds in imparting orchestral colour to a Brahms Hungarian Dance.

Twenty or more dance releases by widely known composers like Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman and others, cater to many tastes. I was captivated by "Lambeth Walk" and "Je Ne Sais Pas" (26015) as played by Joseph Rines and the Hotel St. Regis Orchestra. A new Rumba "Perfidy" (26025) played by Xavier Cugat's orchestra is capital—as is a tango, "Bambina" (26031) played by Hal Kemp. So far as descriptive ingenuity goes, Ralph Gordon's "Fun in a Boiler Shop" (26033) is the last word, and not as fierce as its title sounds.

Auto Driver Is Acquitted

Robert Eccles
Found Not Guilty on Manslaughter Charge

An Assize Court jury, out 32 minutes yesterday, returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Robert Eccles, facing a charge of manslaughter arising out of the death of Royston G. Perkins in a car crash on May 28 of this year.

Perkins died as the result of injuries sustained when a car driven by Eccles left the roadway on Palmer Station Road, near the Chanticleer section of the Island Highway. It ran into a fence and a section of railing passed through the windshield and entered Perkins' head.

The jury retired at 5 yesterday afternoon and Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald ordered the accused freed just over half an hour later.

Constable Wm. C. Murray and former constable Frank Pomeroy testified to measurements and the course of the car immediately before it reached the point where it overturned, after knocking down fence poles.

ECCLES TESTIFIES

P. J. Sinnott asked that the case be withdrawn from the jury since, he contended, there was no evidence of negligence by his client. His request was refused. Counsel put Eccles in the box.

The accused said he drove down the highway and attempted to turn the bend near Palmer Road while going at 30 miles an hour.

His steering gear "seized" and the car continued on bumpy ground, going out of control and striking Palmer Road fence posts. One of the rails went through the windshield, but he did not know until the car had overturned and he had crawled out that Perkins was hurt, he said.

Expert testimony was given by mechanics H. Bickerdike and Reginald Gerrard to the effect that the steering gear could jam momentarily and then right itself.

Scattered applause broke from the gallery as the verdict freeing Eccles was announced. It was quickly silenced by the sheriff and police officers.

M. B. Jackson, K.C., was crown counsel.

Scholar Receives Kiwanis Award

John Meredith Receives
Annual $100 Bursary
Given By Service Club

John Meredith yesterday received the annual scholarship of $100 given by the Kiwanis Club to the most deserving student at Victoria College. The presentation was made by Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, at the club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

The function was attended by Professor Percy H. Elliott, principal of the college, Professor E. S. Farr of the college staff and Harry Smith and D. H. Hartness, principals respectively of the Victoria and Oak Bay high schools.

In making the presentation Dr. Willis explained the scholarship was given not only for scholastic achievement but in recognition of qualities of character and leadership.

The award had first been given by the club in 1921, the year after its foundation in the city, and it had proved an investment which paid richer dividends than any other of the Kiwanis public services.

Mr. Meredith is a former student of Oak Bay High School, and president of the Student Council of the college. At the University of British Columbia he plans to take his degree in history and English.

He thanked the club both on his own behalf and on that of the college for the award, which he

Cagers Will Open Season

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

SOME CLOSE hockey observers believe New York Rangers ultimately will be to major professional hockey what the New York Yankees are to baseball, as a result of the farm system employed by both organizations.

The Yankees, with their powerful farm clubs, Newark Bears and Kansas City Blues, champions of the International and American Association leagues, respectively, have the cream of the minor league crop from which to choose recruits. Rangers are rapidly acquiring a chain system equally as potent.

In addition to Philadelphia Ramblers of the International-American League and New York Rovers of the Eastern United States Amateur League, Rangers have added Edmonton Athletic Club Juniors to their amateur hook-up, and have Vancouver Lions of the Pacific Coast League available as a seasoning ground for young professionals.

Here is how the Ranger farm system operates: Ranger scouts across Canada recommend amateur players to manager Lester Patrick, who, in turn, invites the players to his annual fall training school at Winnipeg. Best of the amateurs are taken by Patrick to New York, where they perform with the Rovers in the U.S. amateur circuit. As these players develop they are given opportunities with Philadelphia in professional hockey. If a player fails to make good with Philadelphia and yet appears to have promise of development, he can be sent to Vancouver for seasoning.

At the same time, Rangers have the first call on junior hockey players at Edmonton and no other N.H.L. club can sign them, unless Patrick decides they can be of no use to him. This farm system has paid large dividends to manager Patrick. Of the tentative 1938-39 Ranger lineup, only two players are not graduates of the system. Goaltender Kerr was obtained from Montreal Maroons and defenseman Art Coulter from Chicago Black Hawks.

Last year three players were promoted to the N.H.L. from Philadelphia, centre Clint Smith and forwards Bryan Hootall and Bobby Kirk. This trio spent the 1936-37 season with Vancouver Lions and then moved as a unit to Philadelphia for the 1937-38 season. Murray Patrick and Larry Moyniaux, regular Ramblers defencemen, played several games with Rangers near the close of last year, when injuries forced two Ranger defencemen to the sidelines.

Dutch Hiller of Kitchener, Ont., moved directly from the amateur Rovers to the Rangers late last season and fitted right into the Rangers' style of play, largely because the Rovers employ the same checker-board pass attack used by their older brothers in the N.H.L.

WILL TURN PRO

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng.—Douglas McMahon, young Winnipeg footballer, will sign as a professional with Wolverhampton Wanderers, noted English League club it is announced. The 20-year-old centre-forward has just finished a month's trial here.

BOXING

Los Angeles—George Crouch, 137, Los Angeles, stopped Sol Levinson, 136½, Denver, four.

New York—Jackie (Kid) Berg, 147, London, Eng., outpointed Johnny McHale, 150½, Brooklyn, eight.

First Games Tonight at High School; Dominoes Meet Northwesterns

Victoria's basketball teams will make their formal bow to the sports fans tonight at the High School gym when the Victoria and District League stages its opening card. Three games are scheduled as follows:
7.15—Unitys vs. Advets.
8.00—Y.M.C.A. vs. Bees.
9.00—Dominoes vs. Northwestern Creamery.

Feature of the evening will be the appearance of the 1938-39 edition of the Dominoes, long this city's ranking senior men's squad. In their first engagement the club will go up against the Northwesterns, last year's Canadian Scottish Intermediate A club, managed by Carl Coates.

Dominoes had a big worry lifted from their brows with the return to their lineup of Hank Rowe, last year's high-scoring guard. Rowe had left the city to attend the University of Oregon but this week decided to come back home and will be out with his old teammates when they step onto the floor tonight.

Rowe will partner Chuck Chapman on the defence. At centre for the Dominoes will be Art Chapman. Wing forwards will be Busher Jackson, Roy Taylor, Bert Davies, Bob Mylrea, Henry Mottishaw, a brother of Jack, formerly with the Dominoes, and a big fellow named Hicks, formerly of Montreal.

The Northwesterns will have a big team to stack up against the Dominoes. Doug Bray and Ralph Shepherd will be the guards. Bill Lovell will jump at centre with Doug White and Earl Foster in the other forward positions. Other players on the squad will be Morry Hornsby, Toots Purdy and Frank Mylrea.

It has been announced by Col. Chambers, manager of the club, that the Royals of the senior men's division, will be known as the Palm Dairy.

Rene Mathieu Tennis Champ

Beats Nancy Wynne to Win Coast Net Title; Hopman in Men's Final

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Mme. Rene Mathieu, champion of France, took an easy straight set victory from Nancy Wynne of Australia, to capture the women's single title yesterday in the 49th Pacific Coast tennis championship. The scores were 6-1, 6-0.

Harry Hopman, who came to America as the nonplaying captain of the Australian Davis Cup team, advanced into the final round in men's singles with 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Gene Smith, Berkeley high school teacher.

Hopman, who dumped Don Budge, world's amateur champion, out of the tournament in a quarter finals match Sunday, had Smith in trouble several times by drawing him up to the net with drop shots and then whizzing drives past the English instructor.

Conacher Returns

Former "Big Bomber" of Toronto Hockey Team Sold to Detroit Red Wings; Purchased on Installment Plan

DETROIT (CP)—Installment buying was introduced to the National Hockey League yesterday when Detroit Red Wings acquired Charlie Conacher, veteran sniper of Toronto Maple Leafs, in a $16,000 transaction that will not be completed for two years and then only if Conacher retains his health.

Fears an old injury might affect Conacher's play rather than a lack of cash inspired the method of transaction on the part of the Detroit club owned by James D. Norris, internationally-known grain operator.

Detroit paid Toronto $5,000 down and will pay off the balance in annual payments of $5,000 and $6,000 if Conacher continues able to play.

Conacher, one-time big bomber of the N.H.L., was on the sidelines most of last season and retired from the game on advice of his physicians when warned further participation in hockey might result in permanent injury. "Conacher is the healthiest man in Canada now," said James D. Norris Jr., son of the Detroit owner. "I asked him if he thought he could score 30 points over the season and without talking boastfully he said 'I can score that many points sitting down.' We think he can."

Set Rugby Openers

Four Intermediate Teams Will Usher in Season on Saturday at Macdonald Park

Four intermediate rugby machines will go into action Saturday afternoon on the upper and lower pitches at Macdonald Park to open the door on Victoria's 1938-39 oval ball season. This was the decision of a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union last night in the Colonist board room.

The draw for Saturday's openers was made at the parley. Victoria College was drawn against Oak Bay Wanderers on the upper pitch, while the Navy Blues will tackle Canadian Scottish on the lower field. Both games will start at 3, with E. J. Symons handling the College-Wanderers game and Bud Pangman tooting the whistle in the other. The Navy White team drew a bye.

The calibre of the teams is not known at this early date, but it is quite likely that there will be several new faces on intermediate rosters this season, as many of last year's players in this loop have been absorbed by senior clubs.

SENIORS PLAY OCT. 22

Owing to the fact the Navy and Garrison would be unable to field full-strength squads on Saturday, as quite a number of their star performers are out of town, union delegates decided to postpone the opening of the senior loop until a week Saturday-October 22. Other teams entered in this circuit are: Scottish, J.B.A.A. and Wanderers.

Major Stuart Robertson, president of the union, informed the meeting that the use of one of the Beacon Hill playing fields bordering on Douglas Street has been granted by the City Parks Board, as a result of a meeting between a union delegation and that board. Rugby posts will be installed this week. Originally both playing pitches in this area had been earmarked for soccer, but the rugby officials found that the soccer people were in favor of handing it over to the rugbys, who have very few suitable playing fields.

Jack Rutten, J. Roberts and W. Gibson were chosen the committee to handle arrangements for the Victoria Rugby Union's Ball in the Empress Hotel December 9, which will be under the distinguished patronage of E. W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. The committee will have power to add to its number and will be aided by Mrs. Charles Wilson and several other women who have expressed their willingness to help with arrangements.

All rugby referees are urged to attend a meeting of the referees' board to be held in the Colonist board room tomorrow evening at 8.

Amerks Open Hockey School
Fifteen Amateurs Try Out With N.H.L. Club at Saskatoon

SASKATOON (CP)—Fifteen amateur hockey players from all sections of the west were seeking professional contracts when "Red" Dutton opened New York Americans second annual hockey school and training camp here today.

Following the example set by Lester Patrick at the New York Rangers' school in Winnipeg, Dutton and his Americans held their workouts behind closed doors.

Amateurs trying out for positions with the National Hockey League team included Pat Egan, Nelson, B.C., and Joe Benoit, Trail, B.C.

"Bunny" Dame, last year with the Dominion champion Trail Smoke Eaters, will not attend, Dutton said.

The professional players who started training today are: Earl Robertson and Alfie Moore, goalies; Al Murray, Joe Jerva, Johnny Gallagher, defencemen; Art Chapman, Sweeney Schirner, Lorne Carr, Tommy Anderson, Eddie Wiseman, Nels Stewart, "Red" Beattie, Johnny Sorrell and "Hooley" Smith, forwards, and Wilf Fields, former Winnipeg Monarch, who played with Seattle Sea Hawks in the Pacific Coast League last season. He is a defenceman.

Dutton gave his players two sessions of skating today and will start serious practices tomorrow. Americans will open the season with an exhibition game against New York Rangers at Winnipeg, October 20.

No Breaking Up of Yanks

Col. Jacob Ruppert Laughs at Rumors He Will Help Other Clubs

NEW YORK—Baseball men laughed yesterday at rumors Col. Jacob Ruppert would break up his great New York Yankee team to give other clubs a chance, and the good colonel himself merely snorted when told of the reports.

The colonel is a sick man these days—so sick he couldn't watch his champion Yankees topple Chicago Cubs in the world series—but not so sick that he'd break up such a great machine just to help somebody who never helped him.

At all such reports the good colonel stiffens and barks: "Why should I? What did they ever do for me when I was trying to build a ball club?"

And the colonel is right. Years ago Chicago White Sox ruled and New York Yankees were nothing. Baseball's "Old Roman," Charles A. Comiskey, refused to help Col. Ruppert, then interested in building the hopeless Yanks to a money-making team and a winner.

Most of the other clubs, riding high, also turned Ruppert down and, in his rage, the old brewer vowed he'd make them all sorry.

How he succeeded is baseball history. Since he and the late Col. T. L. Huston purchased the Yanks for $400,000 in 1915, the club has won 10 American League flags and seven world titles, beginning with 1921 when Babe Ruth, one of the heroes he was able to pry away from a rival club, started paying dividends.

Wrigley Tells Plans for Cubs

Owner of Chicago Ball Team Announces Rebuilding Program

CHICAGO (AP)—In a determined effort to make a real championship team of Chicago Cubs, Owner Philip K. Wrigley yesterday revealed a six-point program for rebuilding of his club.

The program is:
1. The contract to be offered Manager Gabby Hartnett will be for one year only.

2. Veteran players, rather than younger men, will be used as trading material but the "finger" has not been put on any player.

3. A system of co-operative ownership of minor league clubs is planned to fortify the Cubs' weak supply of young talent.

4. Tony Lazzeri, if he wants it, will have a place with the organization in 1939 though not necessarily with the Cubs proper.

5. Dizzy Dean remains a strong hope for 1939 although no special winter program except rest has been prescribed.

6. Although limitations prevent a wholesale shakeup, every possible effort to strengthen will be made.

The young multi-millionaire smiled at the reaction to Hartnett's impetuous statement that "only four of the Cubs were sure of their jobs." Hartnett had named them—Sanley Hack, Clay Bryant, Bill Le and Dizzy Dean.

HARTNETT WORRIED
"Gabby dropped in to explain that," Wrigley said. "He was worried over the stress the newspapers put on it. I told him I could understand how everybody might feel that was the thing that might be done."

"A wholesale shakeup is ridiculous, of course, there is no sense in trading players just to be trading or just because they have slipped a trifle from their peak for one season."

"That's why we're going to wait a few weeks before doing anything. I don't think we'll have any difficulty getting together on terms for Hartnett. The contract, however, will be only for one year. None of ours are ever for any more."

"We've got the best club in the National League and we have to do our trading in our league," Wrigley continued. "That means we will have to trade with inferior clubs, doesn't it?"

Wrigley declared he was more interested in developing his own players than in buying other teams' stars.

"I'm still against the farm clubs. I have found that working agreements aren't practical," he explained. "But I believe that we will be able to work out something better than that, a sort of co-operative ownership of minor league clubs."

WRESTLING
Harrisburg, Pa.—Len Hall, 224, Oakland, Calif., pinned Abe Kashey, 215, Paterson, N.J., 27.10.

New Haven, Conn.—Emil Dusek, 220, Omaha, defeated George Ryan, 230, Denver, two of three falls.

Indianapolis—Everett Marshall, 222, LaJunta, Colo., defeated Dorve Roche, 224, Decatur, Ill., straight falls.

Rogers Hornsby Named Manager

BALTIMORE—Rogers Hornsby, seven times batting champion of the National League, was still tops today—the reported $10,000 salary to be paid him for managing Baltimore Orioles is the highest of any minor league manager.

General Manager Jack Ogden of the International League team announced Monday night Hornsby would return next year to Maryland and its nine race tracks. He will replace Bucky Crouse, manager during the 1938 season which saw the Orioles finish in last place.

GAINS OFFERS BIG SIDE BET

Canadian Negro Ready To Put Up $2,500 on Bout With Strickland

LONDON (CP)—Larry Gains, Toronto negro boxer, tired of delay in arranging an Empire heavyweight championship elimination bout with Maurice Strickland of New Zealand, yesterday tried to spur Strickland to action by offering a bet of $500 ($2,500) on the result.

Today is the last day on which purse offers will be received by the British board of boxing control, and Gains' manager said the Canadian was mystified by the silence which Strickland has kept. The New Zealander has not said one word about the forthcoming match, but has contented himself with statements about going to the United States.

Meanwhile, Gains is keeping fit for Friday when he opposes Ancho Villa of Spain in a 12-round bout at Edinburgh.

Von Cramm Will Leave Jail Soon

BERLIN—The ministry of justice announced yesterday Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's great tennis player, would be released on parole October 16 with suspension for two years of the remainder of his one-year prison sentence.

Von Cramm was arrested March 5 on his return from a tennis tour of the United States and Australia. He was convicted of immorality May 14 and sentenced to a year's imprisonment dating from his arrest.

Guldahl Will Return Soon

U.S. Open Golf Champ Recovers From Operation in Miami

NEW YORK—There must be 1,000,000 football pools on Broadway between 40th and 57th Streets... Best baseball bet we know right now is that Babe Ruth will not be back coaching for the Brooklyn Dodgers... Ralph Guldahl is recuperating from a minor operation in a Miami hospital and soon will be ready for the winter golf swing... The Baer-Hoffman troupe of fighters, wives, babies, managers, etc., has booked passage for a pleasure cruise to Honolulu.

Baseball market preview: Both the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs want Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cards and are ready to cough up plenty of the old mazzina... They say the Giants have offered Hank Leiber an $100,000 in cold cash... The Cincinnati Reds appear to be about as well fixed as any outfit in the league, but they'd like to have Tony Cuccinello of the Boston Bees at second base... Pittsburgh wants Al Lopez of the same outfit and also must get a replacement for Gus Suhr at first base and some chugging.

Mrs. Helen Willis Moody's back ailment is more serious than anyone imagines, if you can believe dope from the coast... For a guy whose team had just won another world series, Ed Barrow, general manager of the New York Yanks, was a sad-looking individual yesterday... reason: He was in the throes of returning $170,000 collected for the not-to-be played fifth game of the world series.

SCOTTISH WORKOUT
There will be a workout for the senior and intermediate Canadian Scottish rugby teams tomorrow night at 7 at Macdonald Park. The intermediate team for Saturday's game will be chosen from those attending.

Minneapolis—Jim Londres, 202, St. Louis, pinned Chick Chewacki, 240, Oklahoma, 19.37.

50-1 Entry First By Head

Favorite Khasnadar Finishes Second at Newmarket; Domaha Third

NEWMARKET, Eng. (CP)—Jacques Meller's French-bred Helleniqua today won the 99th running of the Cambridgeshire, first of the big autumn handicaps. Kingsley Macomber's Khasnadar, also bred in France, was second and J. A. Swan's Domaha third. Helleniqua, an outsider at 50 to 1, won the one and one-eighth-mile race by a head. The same distance separated Khasnadar, the favorite at 8 to 1, and Domaha, who started at 100 to 9. A field of 29 ran.

Helleniqua, a five-year-old brown mare by Agathos out of Hallatte, moved up with the leaders over the last furlongs and won in an exciting finish.

GOOD START

The race was run in gloomy weather, but the drizzle failed to soften up the course appreciably. The field got off to a good start, the early leaders being Domaha and Carlisle on the far side, the Frenchman Desiderio in the centre, and Gainsly, Thakerton and Khasnadar on the stand side.

Domaha led at the halfway mark, ahead of Carlisle, with Bombay Duck and Couvert, in the centre, prominent. Zaimis was just behind, with Desiderio, Khasnadar and Quartier Maitre going best along the stand rails.

Coming into the dip, Couvert challenged Domaha, while on the stand side there was little between Helleniqua, Khasnadar and Edgell. Domaha weakened in meeting the rising ground. Khasnadar then challenged Helleniqua, the latter getting past the post first.

Couvert was fourth, Edgell fifth, Golden Sovereign sixth, Quartier Maitre seventh and Agincourt eighth. Helleniqua covered the one and one-eighth miles in 1 minute 51.45 seconds.

Model Husband In 18 Ways— For $250,000

NEW YORK—Perry D. Read of the St. George Hotel, Brooklyn, stepped to the bar of Supreme Court, Brooklyn, and submitted to Justice Stoddard his own Eighteen Points.

The Read Eighteen Points, however, were promulgated to insure not permanent European, but domestic peace. They were rules for a husband's behavior that, in Mr. Read's opinion, should satisfy any wife.

The Reads have done a lot of quibbling. They separated in 1936 and Mrs. Read brought earlier this year action for divorce in Reno. Now Mr. Read is suing her for half her fortune, which, he says, is upward of $500,000.

EASY ON SWEAR WORDS

Here are the points which, incidentally, did not appear to impress Justice Stoddard:

1. I will not use foul language to my wife.
2. I will not threaten my wife or any member of her family.
3. I will not lay hands on my wife if I am angry.
4. I will let her have the mail when it is delivered.
5. I will not go through her private business papers.
6. I will not interfere with her business investments, etc.
7. I will be hospitable to her friends.
8. I will be pleasant at family parties or stay away.
9. I will make no objection to my wife's going to Europe with Giovanni (her brother) this summer, or taking trips with him at other times.
10. I will try to be a big brother to Giovanni.
11. I will not object to my wife's getting up and talking to Giovanni when he comes home from a late date.
12. I will not object to my wife's going into her sister's house and staying there as long as she pleases.
13. I will not object if my wife rides in the back seat of the car occasionally when I am driving.
14. I will agree to take people out in the car with me if my wife asks, unless I actually dislike them.
15. I agree to let my wife read in the evening; also to write at the desk.
16. I agree not to fuss about the food, especially eggs.
17. I agree to give account of money spent when money is given to me by my wife.
18. I will not object if she goes to Princeton with or without me. Mr. Read offered to swear to abide by these rules—for upward of $250,000.

NO FUSS ABOUT EGGS

13. I will not object if my wife rides in the back seat of the car occasionally when I am driving.

This Coveted Land Of the Czechs

From Searle Grain, Winnipeg

CZECHOSLOVAKIA is a country that is in many ways of particular interest to western Canada. It is, for instance, a substantial wheat producer, and in most years it is an importer of quite fair amounts of wheat and flour.

Its particular fame, however, is that it produces the highest quality barley in the world, of particular value for the making of beer that has a world-wide reputation by reason of its excellent quality.

Next, Czechoslovakia is the largest exporter in the world of beet sugar. It produces also a good deal of corn, potatoes, oats and rye, and it has more cattle per square mile (52 head per square kilometre) than any other country with the exception of Denmark, Belgium and Holland, which have a very dense cattle population.

Czechoslovakia enjoys an abundance of coal and iron ore, so it is favorably placed for the conduct of metallurgical industries. The country abounds with steel works and iron foundries. It also enjoys an enviable reputation for its fine glass, porcelain and pottery. It still has large forests, and so, like Canada, produces a good deal of pulp and paper for export. Like eastern Canada, too, it has developed an important textile industry. Czechoslovakia is a great believer in foreign trade, and has been in the forefront recently in reducing its tariffs.

All in all, then, Czechoslovakia undoubtedly is a country not altogether unlike Canada, filled with industrious people of a number of different nationalities who are interested in, and depend upon, commerce and trade with other nations.

Recent visitors to western Canada from Germany, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Finland and England all noted with much surprise how well the groups of people from central Europe of different races, creeds and religions got along together in that almost the opposite condition prevails over the greater part of Europe, where misunderstanding, prejudice and hatred between races and people of differing religions was the common thing.

One and all of them asked the question "If numbers of central European people of different races can agree and work together in a friendly spirit in Canada, then why can they not get along amicably together in Czechoslovakia and in other countries of Europe?"

There is, of course, much food for thought in this simple question. Perhaps one answer is that the pressure of population is very great in central Europe, whereas in Canada we have wide-open spaces and a sparse population. Perhaps, human nature being what it is, people resent having to be crowded together and having to rub shoulders day in day out with those of different races and creeds. One wonders, therefore, whether some of the present troubles (which may at any time lead to war) in the densely populated countries of central Europe, would not be lessened if those countries that are but thinly populated, and have good natural resources, would open their gates to some of the worthy and hard-working people of Europe.

Certainly it seems it would be worth making some considerable sacrifices for any country to be free from the continual fear of war, and the vast expense of armaments, that now seems to be our daily portion.

The Czech people are a very old race. They occupied the state of Bohemia (which forms the greater part of the present state of Czechoslovakia) almost 2,000 years ago, and which then was a sovereign state, having dominion for hundreds of years over a considerable part of the present Austria-Hungary, and some parts of the present Germany.

After the Thirty Years' War in Germany, however, in 1648, Czechoslovakia came under the Austrian monarchy, and by 1670 the last remnants of Czechoslovakian national independence disappeared. Czechoslovakia led a long and hard life during the Great War, and the Allies recompensed them by giving back to them their ancient lands, including Bohemia, which, however, by this time, contained in those areas bordering Austria and Germany a considerable number of Austrian and German people.

The present difficult situation is also complicated by the fact that the areas occupied by the Austrian and German minorities form practically the only natural defences Czechoslovakia has against invasion, which explains, no doubt, the reluctance of the Czechs to give up these frontier lands.

If something of the same spirit of fairness and tolerance that prevails among the different races which live side by side in Canada today could only enter into the hearts and minds of the very same races now inhabiting central Europe, then it seems highly probable that the present difficulties could be easily overcome, and the world would have a chance again to breathe in peace.

C.P.R. to Cut Expenditures

MONTREAL (CP)—Announcement of plans to curtail expenditures in view of traffic falling to materialize to expected volume was made today in a statement made public by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

The statement, on which company officials declined to elaborate, said:

"Comparatively heavy expenditures were made in the first half of 1938 in expectation of a good grain yield in western Canada, and of fall traffic which would approximate in volume that handled in the years prior to 1929. The company also had to carry the burden of the restoration of basic rates of wages which went into complete effect on April last."

"The western crop, while not unsatisfactory in size, did not reach the magnitude which early prospects indicated, and general traffic has not picked up to the extent which might have been expected."

"For the balance of the year, it will be necessary to curtail expenditures, which can be done without impairment of the condition of the property and its equipment, as everything had been put in condition for a rush of traffic which has not materialized."

"We are in consultation with the representatives of certain classes of employees as to distribution of available work, and it is expected that arrangements can be made to secure the absolutely essential economies without serious dislocation to the working forces of the company."

The Montreal Star said it understood the company's plan involved lay-offs for both clerical and shop workers throughout the system as from next Monday.

It also is understood, the newspaper adds, that details of the plan have not been completed but that clerical and salaried employees will be asked to take off a week without pay between October 10 and the end of the year.

"A reduction in pay for the balance of the year will approximate 8 1/2 per cent for them," says The Star, "because deduction of pay will be made at the rate of one day's pay from each of the half-monthly pay cheques."

The workers, according to The Star, will be allowed to take off their time as a week of holidays or one day every half-month.

Details for the plan concerning the union-member employees will be discussed at a conference to be called by company officials with union executives.

The Star also points out that S. J. Hungerford, president of Canadian National Railways, is in the United States at present, and other officials of that line declined to say if the C.N.R. was considering similar steps.

CENTENNIAL Y.P.S.

The weekly meeting of the Centennial Young People's Society took the form of a concert. The meeting opened with a short devotional period, arranged by Margaret Carrill and assisted by Irene Birkett. The president, Jim McCague, gave a short report of the annual meeting of the Young People's Council held last week. The musical program was arranged by Edna Fuller, with the following contributing: Misses Muriel Patterson and Margaret Russell, pianoforte solos; Jim Robson and Chris Miller, violin duets, with Margaret Russell as accompanist. Next week's meeting will be a mystery meeting under the direction of Gordon Hatch.

Laud Community Chest

Brig.-General V. W. Odium Says Welfare Body Will Always Succeed Here

Success for Victoria's Community Chest, as a means of providing for the various welfare organizations associated with it, was forecast for future years by Brig.-General V. W. Odium, honorary chairman of the Vancouver Welfare Foundation, in a dinner address in Spencer's dining-room last night.

The gathering was a "Dutch Treat" dinner for executives in charge of the drive and was the first of its kind held this year to precede the chest drive.

General Odium based his forecast on the success which the drive had shown in the first year of its effort and with such a start he said it was bound to prove its worth in succeeding years.

General Odium said he had not come as an individual to address the meeting, but rather as a spirit of goodwill from the Vancouver organization concerned only with the success of a single purpose.

He praised Victoria for its excellent showing during the first year's operation and wished continued success.

He pointed out, however, Victoria had collected an amount equal to $1.35 per capita. This, he asserted, was not a very high figure when one considered the amount people spent on such luxuries as cigars and cigarettes. Although the Vancouver per capita was lower, the mainland city encountered many difficulties not met in Victoria.

FINE SPIRIT PROMOTED

One of the principal features of welfare drives which had struck him was the splendid spirit of community effort which was evidenced by them. It was a fine spirit which was brought out only at a time when man was called upon to aid his fellow man.

In Vancouver the federation had given a total of $2,500,000 in eight years' operation.

Victoria should be proportionately higher than this because Victoria, after all, was blessed and was wealthier per capita than Vancouver.

In Vancouver, also, there had been opposition to the federation at first from labor, C.C.F. and other organizations, who opposed the principle involved. Fortunately this had been somewhat overcome recently, and now many of these opposing bodies were behind the federation.

One of the cardinal needs of campaigns of this kind was spirit. Spirit counted more than training and equipment, and meant proper leadership.

He urged participants in the campaign to know as much about the agencies involved as possible. Duncan MacBride expressed thanks to General Odium.

R. H. B. Ker, chairman, said the meeting had been arranged in order to get the campaign officials together before the actual drive started. This year would be the test year for the chest, as it would determine whether the public wanted it, he said. The organizations interested and their officers wanted it, and it was this year that would decide whether the chest would stay.

BUDGET HIGHER

This year's budget of $82,297 was slightly larger than last year, but Mr. Ker was sure the objective would be attained. Although conditions were not quite as good this year, he saw no reason why this should prevent attainment of the total requirement.

Mr. Ker briefly explained the committee organization and the arrangement under which various sections of the city were distributed among the canvassers. Executive officers were introduced by Mr. Ker.

The evening opened with musical entertainment by members of the U.C.T. Glee Club, who are members of the campaign committee, under the direction of Sam Winterbottom.

Kresge's Manager Returns From Trip

Vic Cory, manager of the Victoria store of S. S. Kresge Company, returned to the city this week after a trip of 10,000 miles during which time he visited all the new stores of his company in central and western Canada. Cory made the tour as the guest of the Kresge company in appreciation of the business turnover of his organization.

"Business conditions in the east are certainly not up to the standard set in the west," Cory said. "On the prairies business is good where the crops are good," he stated.

"I saw a lot of sights in eastern Canada, but Victoria is still the finest place to live on the continent and nobody knows just how glad I am to be back," Cory said.

While on the trip Cory made stops at Winnipeg, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis and Montreal. In the last named city the Victoria manager went through the largest store in the Canadian unit of Kresge company. In Toronto he was the guest of the head officials.

Cory's only disappointment on the trip was his failure to see the first game of the world baseball series between the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs. "I was in Chicago the day of the game but couldn't get a ticket for love or money," Cory said.

On his return to his own store yesterday Cory was so pleased that he ordered coffee "on the house" for all his regular customers.

TWO GET YEAR FOR ATTEMPTED ENTRY

Gerald "Buck" O'Neil and Frank Medler were each sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labor by Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning on charges of attempting to break and enter the Victoria Meat Market.

O'Neil was convicted after pleading not guilty. Medler pleaded guilty.

Asked if he had anything to say, O'Neil said he could only ask for consideration on the grounds liquor was his weakness and was responsible for his misdeeds. As a boy of 16 he said he had served overseas and had a pretty rough life, "and from a psychological viewpoint I just revert to type when I get some of this wine which my government sells me." He felt that society owed him something after the life he had lived.

Napier Talks on Ideals of Scots

Reviews History of Scotland in Talk to
 Burns Club

An appeal to Scots to maintain Scottish honor and cherished ideals and to preserve Scotland's place within the United Kingdom was made by Col. Ross Napier at the Burns Club meeting yesterday.

Quoting the early history of Scotland, the speaker said the lack of power of concentration among the Scots had at one time enabled the English to gain many advantages over them by diverting their attention to some minor topic while Parliament was in session. An example of this was shown in the passing of the Act of Union. The English drew attention of the kirk from the terms of the treaty by promising a special article securing the establishment of the kirk in Scotland. This prevented the kirk from opposing the treaty until too late.

Scotland had suffered many injustices at the hands of the British Parliament, the speaker said. The time set aside for Scottish affairs was drastically cut until the Scotch people refused to attend. This was the first time in history that the Scottish Parliament had been presided over by Englishmen alone.

Another "injustice" of a more recent nature had been the flying of the Royal Standard of England in Scotland. According to the treaty the Scottish Royal Standard should be flown in Scotland. This practice had been adhered to until recent years when an attempt had been made to prevent the flying of the Scottish lion rampant. However, the Scotch people had become indignant and had openly defied this effort to suppress their flag.

During the latter part of the program vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. J. Slater, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. N. Bertucci and Mr. Clifford Prescott. Piano and organ selections were played by D. Shepherd and bagpipe selections by Pipe-Major Donald Cameron.

J. A. Dewar, president, was in the chair.

Earl J. Davis Is Found Dead

Earl J. Davis, of the Davis Realty Company, Fort Street, was found dead this morning in the garage of his home at 1464 St. Patrick Street. The body was between the car and the wall of the Garage.

Mr. Davis' car was parked in the garage, the doors were closed and the ignition switch of the car was on. Death was apparently due to asphyxiation.

Oak Bay police called Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, who ordered an inquest for Friday morning at 10 at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

Mr. Davis was 47 years of age. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The Cathedral Men's Parish Guild will meet in the Memorial Hall, Courtney Street entrance, at 8 tomorrow evening when Capt. W. Ord will present a Dickens evening. The meeting will be open to any men interested.

Thieves entered the grocery store of Alderman James Adam, 1101 Fort Street, overnight and stole three pounds of cooked ham and a few pounds of bacon, according to a police report. They gained entry by climbing over a fence and breaking a rear window, after which they forced an inside door to gain access to the store.

A week's remand was granted Frederick Donovan, charged in the City Police Court this morning, with dangerous driving as the result of an accident last week at the corner of Gorge and Jutland Roads. J. P. Walls, defence counsel, said a counter charge would be laid against Miss Doreen Ashburnham, driver of the other car involved in the crash.

Mrs. Nora Dobson, 1041 Pandora Avenue, who suffered minor bruises in an accident on Hillside Avenue Saturday night in the fog, was released from St. Joseph's Hospital immediately following medical attention there. Trial of Howard Estes, colored, charged with assaulting Beru, an East Indian, and occasioning actual bodily harm, was opened before Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning. Dr. Cedric Richardson, dentist, testified he had examined Beru and found seven front teeth loosened. The injury, he believed, would have been caused by a blow, and would necessitate extraction of the teeth. The case was remanded until next Friday to permit Estes to bring a witness for the defence.

Thought He Was "Stool-Pigeon"

Mah Fong Sun on
 Witness Stand on
 Two Narcotic Charges

Trial on two of three charges against Mah Fong Sun, 25-year-old Chinese, under the Narcotic Drugs Act, opened in Assize Court here today with the accused replying to crown evidence with the story that he understood he had been engaged as a "stool pigeon" to try to catch a white doctor allegedly selling opium illegally.

The accused was still on the stand under cross-examination as the hearing was adjourned for luncheon. Corpl. Geoffrey John Haywood and Constable P. C. Brooks, of the R.C.M.P., Vancouver, testified to the arrest of the accused, whom, they said, they had found selling opium to Carl Carlson, a police agent, in the room of a downtown hotel on April 19 and 21. Method by which the transaction had been effected by the agent while the officers watched through a keyhole in an adjoining room was described, along with details of marked money supplied the agent and analysis of opium secured from the accused.

The accused took the stand on the direction of his counsel, P. J. Sinnott, and stated, through J. Y. Leong, interpreter, that the agent Carlson had told him he was with the R.C.M.P. and wished to trap a white doctor. He denied selling narcotics to Carlson, but stated they had been given to him by that man in the hotel room. Mah Fong Sun said he thought he was to act as a stool pigeon, as Carlson had told him.

Cross-examination by H. W. Davey, to whom the prosecution was turned over by M. B. Jackson, K.C., continued this afternoon.

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald is presiding over the trial before a jury composed of Arthur Rigby (foreman), J. B. Davenport, Henry James, John W. Cashmore, Charles Richardson, Herbert L. Johnson, William H. Hart, Thos. E. Ainscough, Edward Ord, John Ardrin, John D. Maltman and Frederick S. Barrett.

Tom Kelway will give several selections and lead community singing.

The Anglican Men's Fellowship of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, will hold the first meeting of the season on Friday, in the Parish Hall, at 8. The speaker will be Mr. C. L. Harrison, who will illustrate his lecture with colored slides.

Carrying the Blessings Of Christian Culture To Heathen Ethiopians

A Special Correspondent of the Manchester Guardian

JIBUTI—UNDER BADOGLO'S short regime as Viceroy the Italian hand was not too brutal.

Though there was heavy repression in Addis after the sack of the town, the shootings of May, 1936, were military measures of the old kind and not a modern terror; they were therefore, if not acceptable, at least comprehensible to the Abyssinians.

It was under Graziani, the second Viceroy, that the Terror developed to its full stature. The ultimate cause was Italian annoyance at the failure of their plan for Abyssinian disarmament, except in the urban centres of Addis Ababa and Harrar. At the beginning of 1937 guns were found secreted at Debra Libanos, Ethiopia's most sacred monastery, 50 miles north of Addis—not many, but guns. As punishment 350 monks were lined up before seven machine guns manned by Eritreans, who were ordered to fire. The Eritreans, themselves Christians and of Amharic origin, sabotaged their guns. Mohammedan Somali troops were sent in with the bayonet to kill the priests off and the monastery was burnt to the ground (with an Italian promise to build a new and better one later).

Wherever there have been Europeans in Ethiopia the systematic massacre ordered from Addis Ababa has been attested.

THIS SHAMBLES sent a shudder of horror across the plateau, and was met by the Ethiopians with the bomb attempt on Graziani on February 19, 1937. The story of the ghastly massacre by the Blackshirts in Addis that followed the wounding of Graziani has, so far as possible, been suppressed by the Powers, who at that time desired an accord with Italy. In Addis alone the French minister reported 6,000 Ethiopians murdered in three days; the British Consulate knew over 2,000 names of the killed.

The behavior of the Blackshirts and of certain elements in the regular army was atrocious to the point of insanity. Women and children were bludgeoned to death in the streets, men were dragged along by their feet, which were roped up to the tail of lorries, others were deliberately chased and run down by lorries; St. George's Square was carpeted with dead, and the inhabitants of the hundreds of native houses round the square and along the Station Road were burnt alive in their houses.

While the democratic chancelleries were obliged to lift a corner of the veil that lay upon the Addis massacre they were careful to suggest that the killings were not ordered by the Viceroyal authorities; this was not so. Nor did they mention the massacres that immediately followed throughout the empire by order from Addis. The records of these are at the Foreign Office, the Quai d'Orsay, and the State Department.

Totalitarian massacres of all Ethiopian chiefs (i.e., those who had submitted) are known to have been ordered from Addis at Gore, Dessaye, Lekemti, Asba Tafari and Erga Alem. In Bale 81 chiefs were shot in one day, 25 the next, and 30 the next; 2,000 fighting men who had made their submission after the death of Dedjaz Baynans Mared were killed off in a day. In the Arussi this process against the chiefs is known to have been preceded by the torture of the feet suspended over the slow fire or by daily floggings. Near Lake Zwal an Italian resident was removed from his post because he refused to carry out his orders and kill a chief who had sheltered with him.

Wherever there have been Europeans in Ethiopia the systematic massacre ordered from Addis Ababa has been attested.

Chartering of Labor Groups Test Canadian Congress Will Study A.F. of L. Demand It Issue Papers

OTTAWA (CP)—P. M. Draper, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, refused today to comment on charges made against the congress by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor.

"Until I receive a verbatim report of the proceedings at the Houston convention (of the A.F. of L.) and a copy of the resolutions adopted, I have nothing to say," said Mr. Draper. "Certainly we will have to deal with the matter when we receive these."

The A.F. of L. convention adopted an executive committee resolution requiring all central labor bodies in Canada to be notified directly by the A.F. of L. They are chartered now by the central Canadian organization.

The committee's report alleged "an infiltration of the Committee for Industrial Organization and said the Canadian congress chartered groups in conflicting jurisdiction with A.F. of L. affiliates."

It was generally feared here in labor circles that the split in United States labor may extend to Canada. The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at conventions last year and this decided to continue efforts to make peace between the C.I.O. and the A.F. of L. Canadian sections of C.I.O. unions expelled from the A.F. of L. are still affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Flower names often vary in different localities. The yellow dog-tooth violet, for instance, is known in some places as yellow adder's tongue, trout lily, and fawn lily.

Around The Docks

PRIMATE TO SAIL

Most Rev. Michael James O'Doherty, archbishop of Manila and Primate of the Philippine Islands, will be a distinguished traveler sailing by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan Friday for the Far East.

Archbishop O'Doherty, who is returning to Manila after visiting William C. Biting Jr. of Asheville, North Carolina, holds spiritual jurisdiction over 12,000,000 communicants in the Philippines, where he has been stationed for the last 30 years.

The veteran cleric is on a world tour which he started with three purposes in mind: Attending the 34th Eucharistic Congress at Budapest, visiting Pope Pius XI at the Vatican and seeing his old friend William Biting, who accompanied him to the coast.

The Archdiocese of Manila owns three banks, one of the largest sugar "centrals," 7,000 chartered islands, the largest subdivision in Manila, 51 pieces of income-bearing property in Manila and millions of square metres throughout the Philippine Islands.

ASIA HERE MONDAY

Running on schedule, Ss. Empress of Asia, Capt. George Gould, is scheduled to reach Victoria from the Orient early Monday morning, according to James Macfarlane, Canadian Pacific district passenger agent. With her cabins well filled and a diversified Oriental cargo stowed below decks, the Empress of Asia cleared from Yokohama last Saturday. She got in touch with Estevan radio station last night, reporting 2,342 miles out. Outbound for the Far East, Ss. Empress of Japan, Capt. L. D. Douglas, will sail from here Friday evening, instead of Saturday. The change has been made to avoid a day's delay in Japan due to a national holiday. She will leave Vancouver at 11 Friday morning, arriving here at 4 and clearing at 5.30 for Yokohama via Honolulu. The first and tourist accommodations will be fully booked for the voyage.

Ss. Empress of Canada is reported to have reached Manila last Saturday.

BUILT IN B.C.

Ss. Magister, which will inaugurate a new service from the North Pacific coast to the West Indies next month, is the former Canadian Volunteer, built at the Wallace Shipyards at North Vancouver in 1919 for the Canadian Government Mercantile Marine.

The freighter was purchased in 1933 by her present owners, J. S. Webster and Sons of Kingston, Jamaica.

BOUND TO HULL

Completing the loading of 900,000 feet of lumber here, Ss. Northleigh, Capt. G. G. Price, is posted to get away from Canadian National docks tonight for Hull, England.

Tomorrow morning, Ss. Gedding Court, which is at Cowichan today, is expected here to stow a lumber parcel.

COAST LIGHT OUT

Col. A. W. R. Wilby, Department of Transport agent here, advises mariners that the unwatched acetylene gas light at Cracroft Island, Johnstone Strait, is reported not burning.

The light will be attended to as soon as possible, the agent states.

Guardmen picked up the Grays Harbor, Wash., craft and its crew of three men outside the bar at a 60-mile tide threatened to carry them into the breakers. The coastguard amphibian plane had sought the ship since Monday night.

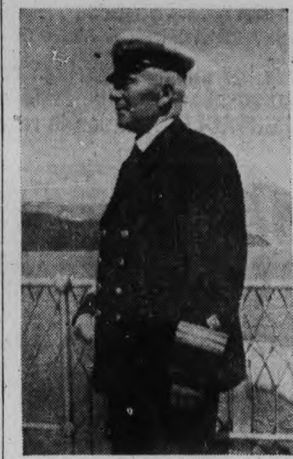

The first high winds of the season drove the Albatross tuna fleet into Astoria for protection. More than 75 of an inch of rain fell in a few hours. The storm tied up general shipping activities at the river's mouth.

Mrs. Craddock, accompanied by her husband, was returning to Vancouver.

It's a job of work we cannot shirk.

Senior C.P.R. Purser Retires

Arthur H. Bird
Superannuated After
35 Years of Service

ARTHUR H. BIRD

"A splendid officer who has made a host of friends for the company and himself," said Capt. R. W. McMurray, manager of the B.C. Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, speaking today of the retirement of Arthur H. Bird, senior purser of the fleet, who has been retired on superannuation after 35 years of service.

"Mr. Bird is known all over the Pacific Coast and was most popular not only with the traveling public but also with the men with whom he was associated in the service."

"We are indeed sorry to lose him and wish him speedy recovery to good health and enjoyment in his well-earned retirement," said Capt. McMurray.

Purser Bird's last ship was Ss. Princess Charlotte on the Alaska route, but in mid-July he had to be relieved on account of sickness and since that time he has been confined to St. Joseph's Hospital.

During the past 35 years Mr. Bird has served as purser on practically every vessel in the C.P.R. coast fleet, from the old steamwheelers to the present-day palatial steamers. Born at Staines, Middlesex, England, on November 5, 1873, Mr. Bird, at the age of 20 years, joined the Royal Garrison Artillery, and after serving nine years at various stations, including Guernsey, Bermuda, Halifax and Esquimaux, he left the army and joined the B.C. Coast Ss. Co. in 1903.

For three years, from 1903 to 1905, he was assistant to J. S. Byrom, port steward. In February, 1905, he joined the sternwheel steamer transfer and later the famous Beaver, and after 15 months on the Fraser River was transferred to the R. P. Rithet and subsequently served on the Otter, Queen City, Chatterbox, City of Nanaimo, Amur and other ships up to those of the present day.

He has traveled in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 miles.

In 1930 Mr. Bird was appointed one of 12 assistant cruise directors to Ss. Empress of Scotland on a Mediterranean cruise, after which he visited relatives in England after an absence of 27 years.

SEATTLE (AP)—Seventeen steamship lines, anticipating an exceptionally heavy movement of fresh fruit to the old world, have scheduled 130 refrigerated carriers with a total capacity of 7,126,031 boxes of apples to load at Seattle and other northwest ports from October through February.

Loading ports include Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Vancouver, B.C., while major ports of the United Kingdom, Continent, Scandinavia and the Mediterranean will receive the products.

During the last quarter of the present year the movement will be extremely heavy as 91 ships with a total capacity of 5,147,750 boxes call.

Guides Plane In Any Weather

Automatic Direction Finder Leaves Pilot Free to Read Comics

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

NEW YORK—Aviation research workers pulled a new one out of the hat today—an airplane which will find its way to an airport with the unerring sense of a milk wagon horse heading for home and a bucket of oats.

All the pilot has to do is twirl a dial, switch on his automatic pilot and read his favorite comics until the plane gets there.

The gadget which makes it all possible is known as the "automatic direction finder." Tuned to a radio beacon station, which provides the skyway path along which airplanes fly, or to a commercial broadcasting station, the direction finder will continue to indicate the compass point from which the sound is coming, regardless of the direction of flight.

The other half of the apparatus, the automatic or "robot" pilot, has been in use several years. It flies the airplane, leaving the human pilot's mind and hands free for other duties.

Hooked together, the direction finder and the robot pilot will fly a plane to any given destination, regardless of weather conditions and high cross winds which tend to blow it off its course.

Germany Honors Bristol Engineer

BERLIN (CP-Havas)—Germany's highest aeronautical award, the Lilienthal ring, was presented to A. H. R. Fedden, chief engineer of the Bristol Aeroplane Company, at the opening here today of the annual meeting of the Lilienthal Society for Aeronautical Research.

Major-General Ernst Udet, German Great War ace, said the society wished to honor a distinguished foreign expert in awarding the ring for the first time.

Labor War Front

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Behind-the-scenes meetings continued today on San Francisco's two labor war fronts, while the fate of a new liquor distributing warehouse depended on conferences between Committee for Industrial Organization and American Federation of Labor union leaders.

After a busy day meeting with one group and then the other, Paul C. Smith, mediator in the C.I.O. warehousemen-distributor conflict, said he hoped to get the groups together today for a conference.

He promised a statement on the situation, which has resulted in the closing of 100 warehouses, today or tomorrow.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg wheat futures made slow headway late today with operations virtually at a standstill due to lack of outside influence. Prices rallied a cent at the start and then eased to close 1/4 to 1/2 higher, October 60 1/2, November 60 1/2, December 59 1/2 and May 63 1/2 to 63 3/4.

Canadian wheat export sales were small, estimated at less than 100,000 bushels.

With United States markets on holiday all intermarket operations were at a standstill. Buenos Aires also was closed.

Reports of dry weather which may have a serious effect on the Australian wheat crop caused improved buying at Liverpool and resulted in final quotations 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 higher.

Cash wheat demand continued slow. Spreads were unchanged. Coarse grain futures leaned upward. Appearance of tightness in the October positions gave price firmness. The day's volume was small.

Western Canada's wheat marketings yesterday totaled 2,727,000 bushels, more than five times the deliveries of a year ago.

The Crust of the Earth

Near the shore of the Bay of Naples, we may see today the remains of an old temple. It was built to honor the old Roman god, Jupiter.

These remains are interesting for a special reason. They show the fall and rise of the earth at that place during the past 2,000 years or so.

Remains of the Temple of Jupiter, showing pillars which were marked to a height of about seven feet.

The temple was built on dry land, close to the water's edge. By and by, the land sank until the temple was part way under water.

Then came a new period, when the land rose and put the floor of the temple above sea level once more.

The marble columns tell the story of how far down the temple sank. On each column, the surface is rough up to a certain point. The roughness is known to have been caused by salt water shellfish of a certain kind. These shellfish often bore into rock.

That is one example of the rise and fall of the earth's crust, and there are many others. Each of Norway's beautiful fjords was formed by the sinking of a river valley. Long ago, the river was taking fresh water to the sea.

Then came a time when the river bottom began to sink, perhaps at the rate of only a few inches a year.

At last the river bottom had sunk to a depth of many feet, and had come to be lower than sea level. Salt water flowed into the river valley, making it a flood.

All floods are salt water inlets of the sea. Some of them are narrow bodies of water with high mountains on either side.

Why does the earth's surface rise and fall? We cannot answer that question clearly, for we do not know so much about the inside of the earth as we need to know. However, it seems clear that the earth is "shrinking," causing parts of the surface to go up or to sink.

If you wish to let an orange dry away, you can make a test. As the days and weeks go by, the orange will lose the moisture in it. At length the peeling will be wrinkled, and you will see little hills and valleys caused by the shrinking of the orange. On a big scale, the earth seems to be shrinking in much the same way as the orange.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, October 13, 1938

According to astrology this should be a lucky day. There is a promising sign for workers.

This is a favorable date for engaging new employees. The stars presage expansion of business for many merchants and manufacturers. Christmas trade is to be exceedingly profitable.

Under this configuration the counsel of the aged may be sought with profit. Experience counts for much under this direction of the stars.

Although this is the 13th of the month, it is auspicious date for discussions, conferences and meetings.

The seeds declare that might win in many of the fall elections where national government machinery is operative, but there will be noteworthy independent victories.

Women will do well to devote their attention to non-political organizations. They do not know how to play politics according to the rules of the game as established by men.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of success through prudent and enterprising efforts. Older persons will be helpful to the young.

Children born on this day probably will be quick-witted and talented in expressing their ideas. Subjects of this sign may be successful artists or orators.

1. Yes.
  2. The chaperone.
  3. Yes.
  4. No. Inquiring about a student's fraternity the very first thing sounds—and is—snobbish.
  5. Especially for freshmen.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been engaged to a young man for a long time. We want to get married, but as my father is dead I am the sole support of my family. I cannot leave them and he refuses to let me work after marriage. I have a married brother. Shall I give my young man up rather than ruin his life by expecting him to wait endless years, or shall we get married and let life take its course? Something must be done.

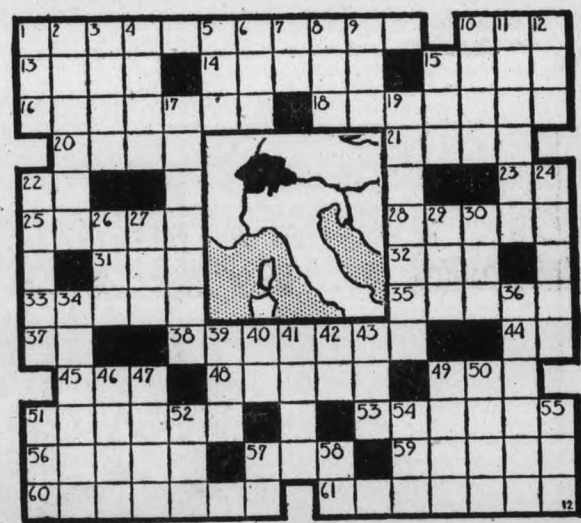

A. A. A.

Answer: No girl is ever put in a more tragical situation than the one who is called upon to decide between her love for a man and her love for her family. On the one side is her own life's happiness, and on the other her helpless mother and brothers and sisters, and which ever side she chooses means a heartbreak for her.

I cannot decide the question for you. I can only wish that there would be a little more co-operation between those who should consider your happiness a little as well as their own. I think that your mother and the children might make themselves less of a burden on you if they would; that your selfish brother should help support them instead of dumping the whole burden on you and that your fiancé might swallow his own pride and prejudice and let you continue working after marriage as long as your family needs help so badly.

DOROTHY DIX.
